Lurleen Defeats Nine

Wallaces Win Democratic Gubernatorial Nomination

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Wallaces of Alabama, symbols of old-time segregation, have chalked up a victory of surprise proportions despite all efforts of civil rights forces to stop them.

Lurleen Wallace, blonde, 39-year-old mother of four, thumped nine male candidates so thoroughly in Tuesday's Democratic primary that there will be no runoff for the party's gubernatorial nomination.

Outdistanced badly was Alabama Atty. Gen. Richmond Flowers, a racial moderate who had criticized Gov. George C. Wallace for his tactics. Flowers had counted on depriving Mrs. Wallace of a clear majority, and thus forcing a runoff.

Top Power

But it was not to be and — provided Mrs. Wallace wins the November election — her husband will still be the top power in Alabama, making the decisions for his wife as a $1-a-year aide. By law, he is barred from succeeding himself officially.

Choosing words from her husband's lexicon, Mrs. Wallace told a victory celebration of supporters:

"We will continue to stand up for Alabama. We renew our pledge to continue the type of government which apparently has been endorsed today."

Negro voters in Alabama — their number doubled under the federal voting rights act of 1965 — turned out in long lines, but so did whites.

In all, Alabama has an estimated 230,000 Negroes — 20 per cent of the state's voting population — eligible to vote.

One Result

One result of the Negro surge was the apparent nomination for the Alabama House of Representatives of attorney Fred D. Gray of Tuskegee, first Negro nominee for the legislature since Reconstruction. Three other candidates of his race were ahead for legislative seats.

A Negro candidate for sheriff in Macon County led a four-man race and clinched a spot in a runoff primary. Two other Negroes were leading in other contests for sheriff.

But Sheriff James G. Clark of Selma, tough handler of civil rights demonstrators in 1965, was ahead for renomination. Trailing him was Wilson Baker, the former Selma public safety director who was conciliatory toward last year's demonstrators.

Lingo Swamped

Alabama's former public safety director, Albert J. Lingo, who made a bid for votes, was swamped in his effort to unseat Sheriff Melvin Bailey of Jefferson County.

Alabama was one of six states that held primaries Tuesday. In another highlight, Robert Taft Jr. of Ohio, son of the late Sen. Robert A. Taft who became known as Mr. Republican, got a foot on the comeback trail.

He won Republican nomination for the U.S. House of Representatives, beating by a 4-1 margin an opponent who supports the John Birch Society. Taft formerly served in the U.S. House, but got caught in the Johnson landslide in a try for a Senate seat in 1964 and lost out to Democratic Sen. Stephen M. Young

'Must' Legislation

Assembly Committee Recommends Rejection Of Knowles Road Plan

MADISON (AP)—The Assembly Judiciary Committee has recommended rejection of a compromise accelerated highway construction program just hours after Gov. Warren P. Knowles told lawmakers he considered the plan "must" legislation.

The committee's action, taken on a 6-3 vote Tuesday, slowed down efforts to reach agreement on the proposal to speed highway building through a $26 5 million bonding program and a one-cent a gallon increase in the gasoline tax.

But the measure, intended as a substitute amendment to a highway acceleration bill financed through bonding alone, can still be introduced from the floor.

Not Always Upheld

Assemblyman Frank Nikolay, D-Abbotsford, committee chairman, could not say whether the recommendation would be overturned when considered by the full House. "Committee recommendations are not always upheld," he said.

After it thumbed down the substitute proposal, the committee voted 7-2 to recommend killing the original bill.

The original would have been bonded to speed the construction pace for both the interstate and the state trunk system. The compromise would bond for the interstate, but the gasoline tax hike from six to seven cents a gallon would pay for priority projects on state roads.

Assemblyman Jerry Blaska, D-Sun Prairie, chairman of the Legislative Council's Highway Advisory Committee which requested the introduction of the substitute, said afterwards he was unsure what would happen now to the proposal.

Compromise Plan

He said he wanted to bring the compromise plan before the Democratic caucus before deciding whether to make a floor fight of the issue. But he indicated that if there is a chance of its adoption, he would introduce it from the floor.

The committee's action came after the substitute was amended to cut out a section that would have in effect permitted 65-foot trucks on certain Wisconsin highways. The provision was approved by the Assembly last July as a separate bill after a long and controversial debate.

Blaska told the Judiciary Committee that the section was necessary to obtain the trucking industry's support of the bill.

Requested Passage

Earlier in the day, Gov. Knowles had addressed a joint session of the Legislature and specifically requested passage of the compromise bill.

"I am sure that each of us could find features of the compromise with which we could disagree," Knowles said, "but if highway acceleration is to be accomplished, we must reconsider our personal philosophies to combine forces for the common good of the state."

Tourism Hit By Increases In British Tax

Will Raise Revenue, Force Some Workers Into Manufacturing

LONDON (AP) — Britain's automobile industry and the man in the street were relieved today at the Labor government's new budget but hotels and the tourist industry were angry.

The 1966-7 budget, unveiled by Chancellor of the Exchequer James Callaghan in the House of Commons Tuesday, introduced a payroll tax on the service industries and gave a per-worker subsidy to manufacturers

The unique tax is designed to raise revenue and to drive workers into manufacturing, thus stimulating Britain's exports while maintaining full employment.

Bolster Pound

Britain needs to increase its exports to bolster the pound sterling, which is still recovering from the financial crisis of 1964-5.

Callaghan's budget estimated revenue during the fiscal year at 9.8 billion pounds ($27 5 billion) and expenditures at 9.1 billion pounds ($25.6 billion).

Hotels and tourist enterprises, as service industries, were hit by the payroll tax although they are one of Britain's biggest earners of foreign currency. They can also expect to pay more for laundry and similar services.

Under the tax, the service industries will pay the government $3.50 a week for each man on the payroll, and half that for women and boys.

Possible Changes

Callaghan said in an interview Tuesday night the tax could be lifted from some sectors of the economy or extended to others during the fiscal year.

The automobile industry, which had been expecting a higher sales or gasoline tax or higher auto license fees, instead

Legislative Leaders Say Extra Funds Will Range As High as $70.7 Million

Post-Crescent News Service

MADISON — The state's financial surplus will range between $38 million and $70.7 million, legislative Democratic leaders said today.

But the financial boon should not signal an increase in spending by the May session of the State Legislature, the Democrats quickly warned.

The figure, calculated by party legislative staff researchers, raises the state's surplus accounts to at least $40 4 million, according to Assembly Speaker Robert Huber, D-West Allis. At the close of last November's session the state had $2.4 million unspent in its coffers.

Huber, speaking at a special morning press conference called to reveal the figures, said the estimates prove the need for annual legislative sessions more than anything else.

It is impossible, he said, for any revenue estimates to be made based on the existing two-year budget season.

"We don't mean to imply that there are any shenanigans going

Presidential Veto Called for On Money Bills

Representative Bow Urges 'Arm-Twisters' To Help Hold Budget

WASHINGTON (AP) — The leader of a House Republican campaign to cut appropriations called on President Johnson today to veto money bills that exceed his budget.

As an alternative, Rep. Frank T. Bow of Ohio, senior Republican on the House Appropriations Committee, suggested Johnson send some of his experienced arm-twisters like Postmaster General Lawrence F. O'Brien to the Capitol to help hold the line.

Only Tuesday, the House Armed Services Committee voted almost $1 billion in excess of the President's budget request for military procurement.

More Than Requested

Bow's comments were in a speech prepared for House consideration of a bill appropriating $10,555,342,500 to the Labor Department and the Department of Health, Education and Welfare for the fiscal year starting July 1.

The bill contains about $490 million more than the President requested and follows a 1966 pattern of budget-busting on appropriation bills. Bow planned to offer amendments to cut back the bill but was not optimistic about his chances of winning. He hasn't won a battle this year in his war against increased appropriations.

The President, Bow said, "has cajoled and needled individual members of Congress about budget increases, but he has also marched Postmaster General O'Brien and his legislative liaison troops up here to do battle to save the funding of the rent subsidy program."

The reference was to an earlier attempt to deny funds for the rent subsidy provision of the 1965 housing bill. Both the House and Senate approved the money by close votes.

Bow suggested that the President "either send General O'Brien and his legislative troops back up here to give aid and comfort to those of us who are trying to help the President, or that he exercise his veto power on bills that exceed his budget estimates."

11 Fliers Lost In Laos Flights

Pentagon Reports On Highly Secret U. S. Air Missions

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secrecy-shrouded air operations over Laos in the past two years have resulted in the deaths of 11 U.S. fliers, the Defense Department reports.

Fewer than 20 air crewmen also are missing or prisoners of the Communists as a result of air action in the area, the Pentagon said.

The disclosures, made Tuesday in response to a query, represented a crack in the secrecy which has been maintained largely to avoid embarrassing the Laotian government.

U.S air attacks on Communist infiltration routes leading through Laos into South Viet Nam have been stepped up in recent months. But weekly announcements on Viet Nam casualties have made no mention of losses in Laos.

Peking Statement

Red China Denies Mao Seriously Ill

TOKYO (AP) — Denying foreign speculation that Red China's top man is seriously ill, Peking's foreign ministry said today that Communist leader Mao Tze-tung "is very well."

"Rumors of Chairman Mao's physical condition are quite nonsense and malicious, false rumors of imperialism," the foreign ministry said in a statement reported by the Peking correspondent of the Japanese news agency, Kyodo.

Mao's absence from public view has resulted in wide speculation in the West that he might be seriously ill.

Central China

"The whereabouts of Chairman Mao is unknown even in Peking," Kyoto correspondent Tadao Saito reported. "However, it appears certain that Mao was resting in warm central China away from Peking since late last year until early this year."

In New York, an informant who declined to be identified said he saw Mao on Feb. 28 at the Peking airport when Kwame Nkrumah, the deposed president of Ghana, left for Moscow.

Mao did not make a speech, the witness said, but he shook hands with Nkrumah and did not appear ill. He added that the 72-year-old Chinese leader walked without assistance.

Serious Illness

Official circles in Washington, under the impression that Mao's last public appearance was in November when he received a Cambodian delegation, have been speculating that the Chinese leader had suffered a serious illness or undergone major surgery.

Working on the assumption that the Chinese leadership might be about to change hands, President Johnson's administration has been making overtures to reduce tensions between Peking and Washington.

Omro Youth Drowns in Fox River

OSHKOSH — Darrell Craig, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Craig, route 1, Omro, drowned Tuesday night.

Winnebago County Coroner Art C. Miller said the body of the youth, who was an epileptic, was found by his brother, Danny, 16, about 9:35 p.m. Tuesday floating in the Fox River between Omro and Eureka and near the shore. Darrell had left about 8:30 p.m. to go fishing a half mile from their home.

The younger boy pulled his brother's body from the water, placed it on shore, then ran home to notify his parents. The parents called an Omro physician who advised them to call the sheriff's office.

Two Winnebago county squad cars and the ambulance were sent to the scene and county policeman Gerald Vonderloh gave mouth-to-mouth resuscitation until the Moor ambulance arrived to administer oxygen. The youth was taken to the physician's office where he was pronounced dead.

Coroner Miller placed the death at about 8:45 p. m. and ruled it accidental drowning.

It was not known whether the youth may have had a epileptic seizure.

Cripple Monsoon Offensive

U. S. B52s Continue Pounding Red Supply Routes Into S. Viet Nam

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — American B52 bombers pounded the southern end of the main Viet Cong supply route again today in the continuing drive to cripple the Communists' expected monsoon offensive.

For the seventh out of the past eight days, the Stratofortresses unloaded their 750-pound bombs on suspected enemy supply and troop areas in the Communist C Zone about 65 miles northwest of Saigon and not far from the Cambodian border.

This area is regarded as the southern terminal of the Ho Chi Minh jungle trail over which the Reds send supplies and men from the north.

Rains Due

With the monsoon rains due to start in South Viet Nam within a few days, the Viet Cong are expected to open a fresh offensive after hiding out for the past three weeks. The Communists have capitalized on this period in the past because the incessant rains sharply curtail U.S. air support of ground forces.

There were these other developments in the war:

Australia began a buildup of its forces in Viet Nam with the arrival of the transport Sydney bringing 400 men and 300 troops, members of the 1st Infantry Division, advanced on Viet Cong supply bases along the Rach Beng river bordering Cambodia. (AP Wirephoto)

trucks, weapons carriers and other equipment. This is the first contingent of 4,500 men due between now and mid-June to replace 1,500 Aussies who have been here since last Augsst.

Marine Action

The U.S. Command announced that American Marines, in two actions Tuesday killed 29 Viet Cong while ground action elsewhere was negligible.

U S planes flew 301 sorties over South Viet Nam. But bad weather grounded all Air Force strikes over North Viet Nam and the Navy flew only eight missions there.

The foul weather in the north foreshadowed the onset of the May-to-August monsoon season in the south.

"This weather looks like the beginning of the southwest monsoon," a U.S. military spokesman said. "It is likely to hamper our visual air strikes."

Navy Missions

The eight Navy missions over North Viet Nam struck at barges and railroad boxcars, a communique said.

In the most significant of the sorties over South Viet Nam, Air Force and Navy fighter-bombers attacked a suspected Viet Cong battalion near Can Tho, 70 miles southeast of Saigon. Pilots claimed destruction or damage to more than 100 buildings in the face of heavy ground fire.

The U.S. command announced that troops of the U.S. 25th Infantry, in an operation they began 20 miles northwest of Saigon on April 27, have killed 12 Viet Cong and seized 17 suspects.

Another terrorist incident was reported. A mine went off in Can Tho, injuring five Vietnamese civilians.

Milwaukee Art Center

'Unhappeningness' Is Two Nudes in a Tub

MILWAUKEE (AP)— The facilities of the Milwaukee Art Center have been placed off limits for "spontaneous dramatic performances" following a "happening" in which two nudes bathed themselves in two beer coolers.

Vice squad officers Tuesday started what one called a full investigation of last Friday's "happening."

Madison Students

A group of art students and faculty from the University of Wisconsin, Madison, staged the event which included a nude man and woman.

Sgt. Orval Zellmer of the Milwaukee vice squad said that he and two detectives were questioning art center leaders and some of the 250 persons who were in the audience.

When police indicated an interest in the happening after it happened art center director Tracy Atkinson said the event "was about as sensational as a marble statue in a museum."

No Knowledge

Both Atkinson and Berger disclaimed any advance knowledge of nudes appearing in the show.

Atkinson explained that "a happening is a kind of extension of abstract art in which the artist is a performer with his canvas."

Woman Asks Doctor's Advice on Ear Problem

BY JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M. D.

Dear Dr. Molner: What is a perforated ear drum and what precautions are necessary? I also have a deviated septum and a continuous postnasal drip. Is there something I can take for this? — Mrs. I. D.

A perforated ear drum is one with a hole in it. The ear drum serves two purposes: Transmitting sound vibrations to the middle ear; and, at the same time, keeping infection out.

A chronic infection is the usual cause of a perforated ear drum. Therefore the first question is whether this infection can be subdued, and the second is how to keep further infection out.

If the ear canal is dry (no drainage from it) little need be done except to keep dirt and germs out, and to avoid letting water get into the ear, which also might introduce infection.

A cotton pledget is helpful to prevent dust from blowing into the ear. Swimming is, of course, taboo. Avoid getting water in the ear while taking a bath or shower.

If there is drainage, you should have an ear specialist's advice on necessary treatment. If the infection cannot be conquered, a drop or two of rubbing alcohol, full strength (or diluted to half, if full strength is irritating) tends to dry the canal and ward off secondary infection. Hydrogen peroxide, full strength or diluted one-third, may also be used.

Under some circumstances, tympanoplasty (surgical reconstruction of the ear drum) may be possible. It may or may not improve your hearing. After all, the amount of hearing impairment from a perforated drum varies, sometimes being quite noticeable, other times making little difference.

Dr. Molner

Your deviated septum (bent or distorted partition between the nostrils) no doubt is part of the cause for your postnasal drip, but chronic sinus infection, excessive smoking, allergy, polyps or enlarged turbinates in the nose can be involved, too.

Instead of wondering whether there is something you can take, by far the best course is to have the nose examined so you can then know what may really help you.

Dear Dr. Molner: Is it possible for a person to emit an offensive odor when nervous or excited? I am a high-strung type and in the presence of others I become excessively nervous and perspire freely. Sometimes people will give me a funny look and retreat, yet when I am alone I can detect nothing and members of my family say they can't, either. Can an offensive odor be evanescent? — Mrs. J.N.F.

I think your high-strung nerves are playing tricks on you. Yes, nervous tension can cause excessive perspiration.

Yet as a rule this does not become odorous, and certainly not quickly. Your family, if anybody, would be able to tell you. A fastidious person rarely will have any offensive body odor, even when perspiring freely.

It would be my guess that you are hypersensitive: if people really recoil from you, it may be only that they sense your extreme nervousness.

Why don't you talk to your doctor about this anxiety you have in the presence of others? A mild sedative or tranquilizer taken before such occasions may do wonders toward easing your nerves and in time help you to take such meetings in stride.

Note To Mrs. M. W.: No, there is no cause to worry about "radiation" from a TV set.

What are ulcers? How should they be treated? What can you do to help rid yourself of ulcers and stay rid of them? For answers, read Dr. Molner's helpful booklet, "How To Heal Peptic Ulcers and Keep Them Healed." For your copy write to Dr. Molner in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Negotiations Due For Soldiers Square Parking Ramp Land

Committee Named to Meet With Owners of Remaining Property

The City of Appleton will begin negotiations soon to acquire remainder of the property needed for the multi-level Soldiers Square parking structure to be constucted later this year.

A three-man committee was named by the board of public works Tuesday afternoon to meet with the property owners.

Mayor George Buckley, Public Works Director Robert W. Bues and City Atty. David Geenen were asked to expedite negotiations for land and buildings in an area bounded by Morrison, Oneida and Lawrence streets and Soldiers Square.

The city already owns about 60 per cent of the land needed for the new parking ramp, which will be the first on the south side of College Avenue, and have a capacity for 450 cars.

Construction Aug. 1

City officials said it was hoped to have possession of the property by July and start construction by Aug. 1.

Previously, the city council passed a resolution on the city's need for the property. When the council meets tonight it will be asked to give appropriate officials authority to proceed with negotiations and condemnation, if necessary.

Bues told the board a Detroit consulting firm would have a sketch for a Soldiers Square mall completed within a week or so, and indicated the actual working plans for the ramp will be in the hands of the city by next month.

"We were supposed to be taking bids in May but it looks like we're a little behind schedule," Bues commented.

In another development, Stuart Elsner appeared before the board and criticized the city for the manner in which it has handled ramp matters to date.

Elsner, operator of a service station at 122 S. Oneida St., said he had not been officially contacted by the city concerning purchase of his property. "All I know is what I have read in the newspaper," Elsner said.

Owners Ignored

"The property owners have been ignored and ill-treated," Elsner said. "You should have obtained the property first and then plan the ramp."

Elsner wanted to know when the city would start negotiating to buy property and how long he would be in business at the northeast corner of Oneida and Lawrence streets.

"We tried to get some of these answers for you at the March meeting of the city council," Ald. Roy Pointer (14th) told Elsner.

"There was no intent to slight anyone in this matter," Pointer added.

Appleton Hit For Not Acting On 'Eyesores'

Alderman Criticizes Department's Gait In Condemnations

A volley of criticism was fired at the city's department of inspection by Ald. Arthur E. Mueller (19th) Tuesday when he told the board of public works he has been trying to get rundown properties condemned for two years.

"What do you have to do around here to get these eyesores torn down and help clean up neighborhoods?" Mueller asked.

He told the board his patience had been exhausted with the various municipal agencies and the city attorney's office.

Mueller claimed the inspection department and health department inspectors "have to go through too much red tape before they get anything done."

Mueller said the city should adopt a faster procedure for eliminating properties that have been condemned.

Faster Procedure

The northwest side alderman's ire was aroused when the board was deliberating whether it should give an intended purchaser of one property on W. Bell Avenue another 120 days to tear down an old house, which had been previously marked for condemnation.

"Let's not fool around any longer with this thing," Mueller said. "Open the bids for having the building razed and award the contract."

Mueller said there are three other properties on Brewster Street which, he claimed, should be torn down immediately. The aldermen said he submitted resolutions some time ago to that effect.

Time For Action

"I think it's about time we start getting some action around here," Mueller said. "Mayor Buckley here is talking about beautifying the city and one way to start is to stop pussyfooting around and get rid of these eyesores."

Director of Inspections Charles Magnette explained the procedure his department follows when a complaint is made about a rundown building. He said the owner is contacted and

Pilot Who Landed On Street Pleads Innocent Again

William A. Skaife, 34, Waukesha, Tuesday afternoon pleaded innocent, through his attorney, to a second charge resulting from landing his small airplane on an Appleton street March 21.

The new charge, filed by Dist. Atty. Nick F. Schaefer, contends that Skaife unlawfully operated a motor vehicle more than eight feet wide on a public highway.

County Judge Gustave J. Keller ordered that the case be set for trial Aug. 10, along with another count to which Skaife pleaded innocent last month.

The initial charge was unlawfully landing an aircraft on lands without the consent of the owner.

Judge Keller continued bond at $150. Skaife landed his single engine plane on W. Whittier Drive and taxied the craft to the 700 block of W. Lindbergh Street.

Casey was formerly a member of the Wisconsin Committee on Hoover Commission Findings, served on the committee of 25 as chairman of its state and local fiscal policy subcommittee, and was appointed last year to the 10-man board for economic development by Gov. Knowles.

Casey has been associated with the Chicago law firm of Chapman and Cutler as a municipal bond lawyer and served with the army counter-intelligence corps as a special agent.

General meeting arrangements are being handled by the tax group director, John C. Nelson of the Fox River Paper Corp. Meeting reservations may be made directly with Nelson or any other tax group board member, McKenzie announced.

Works Board Won't Delay Winnebago Pipeline Plan

First Defeat Handed to New Mayor

The board of public works balked Tuesday at Mayor George Buckley's proposal to delay Appleton's water expansion plans and recommended:

—The city proceed without delay with its Lake Winnebago pipeline and water plant addition plans with contracts already executed with two Chicago engineering firms.

—Mayor Buckley explore federal aid programs and the possible interest of other surrounding communities in a joint water expansion which they previously rejected.

—City officials make immediate application for a $1.5 million federal grant for which it is reportedly eligible for the Lake Winnebago project.

Not Argumentative

Words flowed like water at the drawnout meeting at City Hall. Action taken by the board will be be before the council at its meeting tonight.

One of Buckley's first actions after being elected mayor was to recommend a halt to the Lake Winnebago project which the city is carrying out as a short-term solution to its water needs until enough communities are ready 10 to 15 years from now to go to Lake Michigan on a cooperative basis.

Tuesday's action by the board represented the first major setback for Buckley who cast the lone negative vote on the motion to proceed with the Lake Winnebago project this summer.

Open Forum

Buckley claimed "two to three months delay" would not hurt the city any, claiming he needed this time to set up an open forum meeting at which experts would be asked to attend and give the city advice.

Board members told Buckley the city held a series of such meetings over the past three years. They agreed Lake Michigan was the ultimate answer to a long-range, quality water supply for Appleton but indicated the city was in no position to

Buckley Hears Summary of Water Project

Alderman Refutes Claim Appleton Rushes Into Program

Three years of deliberations on coping with Appleton's water problem passed in review Tuesday when a westside alderman gave Mayor George Buckley a play-by-play of what has transpired since 1963.

Ald. Alvin E. Tews (5th) disagreed with a statement by Buckley during a board of public works meeting that "the council is rushing into this Lake Winnebago thing" and told the mayor the matter had been carefully thought out by the council and experts it contacted for advice.

"I don't think there is any member of the council who doesn't agree with the mayor that Lake Michigan represents the ultimate solution but it's not the most practical or economical at this time," Tews said.

Several Years

Tews said the council has been talking about obtaining a different water source (it now dips into the Fox River) for several years.

"In the past three years we heard from the experts, hired special consulting firms to prepare reports and relied on the best advice available from regional and state officials," Tews added.

He recalled the city held several meetings and talked with representatives of other Fox Valley communities in hopes of getting them to join in a Lake Michigan pipeline project, but to no avail.

$30 Million Cost

"After the other communities said they were satisfied with their present water situations, then the cost item became a major one as far as Appleton is concerned," Tews said.

He said if the city had decided to go to Michigan alone

Council to Ponder Highlands School Bond on June 15

The Appleton Council decided Tuesday night to consider at the June 15 council meeting the amount of the bond needed for the proposed Highlands Elementary School to be constructed on the city's northwest side.

At that time a preliminary design and estimated costs can be considered by the council, Dr. Roy Whitney, president of the school board, announced.

Tuesday night's special meeting at city hall was held to review the proposed school construction. Dr. Whitney said that the architects, Schutte, Mochon and Fieweger of Milwaukee, are willing to make a firm cost estimate by the June 15 meeting.

Costs May Rise

He also told council members that a rise in building costs seems imminent between the June date and December when the construction is scheduled to begin. Should such an increase occur, Dr. Whitney said, a cutback might be necessary to stay within the cost figure.

In another motion, the aldermen advised the school board to consider making the proposed Highlands School a "four-section school." A four-section school is one with four classes for each grade.

Dr. Whitney noted the need for a four-section school because a communication the board has received from St. Pius X School has notified the board it is overcrowded and will discontinue its first grade by KAUKAUNA — Top students from Kaukauna and Kimberly high schools and their parents were honored by the Elks Lodge at a dinner Tuesday at the Elks clubrooms.

Students attending represented seniors who won in the Elks Constitution contest and others rated outstanding scholastically. Each year the Elks Order pays tribute to the youth of the nation.

List Winners

Kaukauna representatives were Susan Biese, Rick De Bruin, Janet Driessen, Michael Gondek, Bridget McCarty, John Niesen, David Pendergast, Margaret Schouten and Dale Schuh.

Kimberly students honored were Mary DeBruin, Greg Tennerman, Nancy Liethen, Karen Lamers, Mary Ann Schmidt, Tim Van Dinter, Lois Vanevenhoven and Diane Verbeten.

Short talks were given by Walter Schmidt, Kaukauna principal, and Darrell Larson, Kimberly principal, after which they introduced the students. In charge of the program were Oscar Kunz and Douglas Sachs.

'Keep Doors Open'

The Rev. John Dewane, assistant pastor of St. Mary, Menasha, and instructor in the high school at St. Mary, advised students to prepare for life and not just for living. He indicated there were many more things in life than merely a job or making money as he encouraged them to develop themselves as complete beings.

The priest advised, "keep as many doors open as you can, be careful of too narrow a specialization." Pointing to the architect, physician and other professionals, he indicated how much of the knowledge gained in college was needed to make a well-rounded person.

Think in terms of the diverse kinds of excellence and "consider the turtle, he doesn't make any progress unless he sticks his neck out," concluded the priest.

Thilmany Road Change Okayed At Kaukauna

Council Approval Given for Partial Vacating, Relocation

KAUKAUNA — The council Tuesday night approved the vacating of a portion of Thilmany Road and relocation of the road after no objections were voiced at a public hearing.

The change follows the recommendation of the planning commission. Aldermen took no action on the vacating of Boyd Avenue from the south line of the alley south of Tenth Street to E. 15th Street and a portion of E. 11th Street between Boyd and Cleveland Avenues, both recommended by the planning commission, until further study could be made of the area.

A public hearing will be held on the rezoning of four lots in the 700 block of Lawe Street from residential to central business district, thus making the entire street the same zone classification.

Requests for a zoning change from class A to class B residential were held for study under the master plan being prepared by the city and the vacating of a portion of Orchard Drive was delayed until it could be determined how much of the street would be needed for future storm sewer and water main installations.

Traffic Changes

Police were instructed to place stop signs on Taft, Roosevelt, Wilson and Ducharme Street intersections while road repairs are undertaken in the area. The clerk was instructed to write the State Highway Department requesting a traffic signal at Second and Main streets and police were authorized to have the stop sign at Third Street and Reaume Avenue removed from Third Street and installed on Reaume, thus making Third a through street.

Harold V. Engerson, chief of police, was authorized to hire three policemen as summer relief help. Police Lt. Robert Main was authorized to attend a Wisconsin Police Administrative school in Milwaukee May 17 and 18. Approval was given to sending one fireman to school at West Allis May 13 and 14 and another to Oshkosh May 25 and 26, both fire training schools conducted by the State Vocational board.

Mayor Joseph Bayorgeon informed the council 40 Boy Scouts had volunteered to assist the Jaycees with cleaning up the bank of the Fox River and urged aldermen to give the civic organization and Boy Scouts whatever help is needed to complete the job.

Aldermen were notified by the State Highway Commission of the lowering of the speed limit on State 55 from 50 to 40 miles per hour within the city from 18th Street to the south city limits. Aldermen had requested the reduction due to the rapid residential development in that area and the increasing number of school children crossing the highway.

After considerable discussion on the hiring of a handicapped man to serve as assistant bridge tender on the Lawe Street bridge, aldermen voted to follow the state recommendation and retain the two bridge operators utilized last year and have the handicapped man operate the Wisconsin Avenue bridge.

The car allowance for the city engineer will be discontinued June 1 and the engineer was authorized to take home the city truck and use it for emergency calls on city businesses. The sewer contract with Bower Brothers was extended to permit installation of a sanitary sewer line on Raught Street.

Ald. Gilbert Anderson (5th), chairman of the finance committee, warned aldermen against authorizing sewer installations not included in the budget, indicating at the end of the year they would find the city several thousand dollars in debt.

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Emil J. Schmit, left, pastor emeritus of Sacred Heart Church who is celebrating his 50th anniversary of ordination, talked with the Most Rev. Stanislaus Bona, bishop, Green Bay Diocese, and the Rev. Msgr. Louis Schorn, Oshkosh, a classmate of Msgr. Schmit, at the jubilee dinner Tuesday. About 320 close friends, relatives and priests from the area attended the dinner. A congregational reception was held Sunday. (Post-Crescent Photo)

NFO Considers Buying Food for Viet Nam Gls

The executive board of the Wisconsin National Farmers Organization (WNFO) in session at Port Edward, took action requesting the national board of the NFO to explore the possibility of raising sufficient funds to purchase butter, cheese and pork to supply the Armed Forces in Viet Nam.

State NFO President Ray Johnson said, Washington has repeatedly stated that the American farm economy can produce guns and butter, but we now find the Administration removing these items from the diet of our men in Viet Nam.

"It is the opinion of the Wisconsin NFO board that the American farmer, not only is capable of producing butter, cheese and pork in sufficient quantity to provide for the domestic economy, as well as for the Armed Forces, but that these same farmers will raise the funds to provide these foods for the men sacrificing so much for the welfare, protection and ideals of the nation," Johnson said.

Johnson said he would ask the national organization to give all farmers an opportunity to participate in this program.

Carley Critical Of Lucey on Bonding Stand

Democrat Candidate For Nomination Goes Through Menasha

MENASHA — David Carley, candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor, spoke out on highway financing, industrial development and truck length limits during a tour of the city Tuesday.

Carley was critical of Gov. Warren Knowles and Lt. Gov. Patrick Lucey for their stands in favor of bonding for highway purposes. Lucey is Carley's opponent for the Democratic nod, while the Republican governor is expected to run for a new term.

Carley repeated several alternatives he has offered, including a 1-cent per gallon gasoline tax increase, and coupled with a "complete revamping" of road and highway aid allocation in the state.

He suggested abolishing the segregated highway fund and revising the system under which local communities, most of them rural, receive state road aids to spend as they see fit. Many times, he charged, these funds are used for other than highway purposes.

He called for placing the money in the general fund, and letting the legislature take a new look at aid allocations. Since the legislature has been reapportioned to give urban areas a greater voice, he said he believed the result would be allocation of more funds to urban areas, where the majority of vehicles and citizens are found.

He also advocated constitutional revision to allow establishment of a state development corporation to underwrite business and industrial expansion through banks and other lending agencies.

And Carley objected that trucking interests "are not paying anywhere near a proportionate share for highway programs," which they strongly advocate. "And at the same time that we are talking highway safety, they are asking for more length" to be permitted for trucks. He charged both Knowles and Lucey favor adding to truck length limits, and predicted the matter would bring a major battle in the legislature.

His main differences with Lucey, he said, were highway bonding; "implied consent" laws governing drunken drivers, and truck length limits. The key question in the September primary, however, will be "who is going to make the better governor," said Carley.

He spent the afternoon shaking hands with workers at local factory gates, attended a press conference at the William Herziger home, 342 Park St., met with labor officials and attended a coffee hour at the Lester Hoppe home, 723 Arthur St.

Judge Says County Needs Separate Youth Detention

OSHKOSH — Winnebago County should consider separate detention facilities for juveniles rather than using a section of the county jail, County Judge James Sarres told the Oshkosh Noon Kiwanis Club Tuesday.

Judge Sarres, who serves as juvenile judge, said young persons are placed in a separate section of the county jail but are still able to see the adult prisoners, can overhear them and are not separated enough from them.

The county should start looking forward to different detention facilities, he urged.

The juvenile judge also said too many youngsters now are disrespectful of their parents and elders and this leads to a disrespect of the law.

He cited several examples that occurred in his own courtroom where children showed disrespect for their parents. He asked how can we as parents help our children to develop a respect for their elders and the law. Does this come from their reading about prominent persons cited for tax evasion, of watching their parents break speed laws or of having a parent try to get a traffic citation or some other citation involving their child dismissed?

Are these the examples we want to set for our children, Judge Sarres questioned.

He pointed out that some of the children involved in the divorces he has handled as divorce counsel for the county later come before him as juvenile delinquents. We should consider the welfare of the children when a divorce is contemplated. "Don't tear the child's heart apart," he urged, in pointing out a child loves both parents and then must be torn between them.

Council to Act on Rezoning Petition For Appleton Law Firm

The Appleton Council is expected to act at its session tonight on the 4-2 recommendation of the city plan commission to deny a request of Sigman Sigman and Shiff Appleton law firm, for rezoning of their property at 303 S. Memorial Drive.

The law firm wants to build a new office at that site. A spokesman for the firm said the first action of the plan group was merely advisory. Normal rezoning procedure now will permit the petitioners to present their case to the council at a formal hearing to be scheduled. Firm members expressed optimism regarding their hearing before the aldermen.

NEENAH — The finance committee approved the allocation of $9,000 for preliminary work on the indoor-outdoor swimming pool complex at Washington Park Tuesday.

Fox Valley Labor Pinch Gets Tighter

NEENAH - MENASHA — Firms continue to feel the labor shortage in the Twin City and Appleton areas as unfilled openings at the Wisconsin State Employment Service district office totaled 906 at the end of March, an increase of 388 over the previous month.

And active applications declined 18 per cent from the figure at the end of January.

With increased construction activity, the labor pinch is not expected to be alleviated until the end of the school year and the entry of youth into the labor market. The WSES report noted that slight relief in the summer months would be only temporary as a number of high school graduates will go on to college in the fall.

Some 42 per cent of the active job applicants come from outside of the area and women make up about 40 per cent of all applications.

Some 477 workers are expected to be added to the payrolls of firms in Appleton and the Twin Cities by mid-May bringing employment figures up to 27,502. According to reports from 106 companies, some 218 workers will be needed by nondurable goods manufacturers and another 118 laborers will be needed by durable goods manufacturers.

Neenah Police Retain Lawyer for Bargaining

NEENAH — The Neenah Professional Policeman's Association has retained an attorney for the first time and is preparing to start next year's salary negotiations by June 1.

Sam Sigman, an Appleton lawyer, and Officer James Hawley, association chairman, appeared before the finance committee Tuesday to lay the groundwork for 1967 schedule.

Sigman presented a sample resolution where the association would be the sole bargaining unit for all the policemen, except the chief and two captains "in matters referring to wages, fringe benefits and working conditions."

Ald. Peter Fara, committee chairman, said the resolution would be presented to the city attorney and, if it meets the requirements, the proposal will be presented to the council for official action.

It marks the first time the policemen have retained a lawyer for salary negotiations. "We feel we never have bargained before," Hawley stated.

Racine Park Site Offered For Purchase

MENASHA — The Common Council authorized the mayor and city clerk Tuesday night to notify the representative of a local construction firm that the Racine Street Park property is for sale, and to request submission of a "concrete proposal" to the council for development of the land.

The action was one of two spearheaded by Ald. Walter Remmel that potentially affect efforts to attract a department store to the city and plans for a new municipal building.

After reviving the civic building committee as proposed by Mayor Kenneth Holmes, the council referred to the reorganized committee letters from three firms offering to build and lease to the city a new municipal building.

No action was taken, however, on the city's offers to purchase the eight lots in the Chute-Main-Tayco street triangle, formerly earmarked as the municipal building site.

the outlay would have been an estimated $14 million. Tews said it would have been necessary to float 40-year revenue bonds and pointed out the project would eventually cost the city $30 million, including interest.

"Everything considered, the council then turned its attention to Lake Winnebago which was an alternate recommended by the consultants," Tews explained.

Tews also advised that:

—The $3 million estimate for the Winnebago project included a $1 million expenditure for the city water plant — the addition required whether the city went to Winnebago or Lake Michigan.

Future Use

—Cost of the pipeline would not be lost because the facility being proposed for Winnebago would also be utilized in future years when the city decided to tap Michigan.

—The intake line into Lake Winebago would represent only about $20,000 of the total cost of the project.

—Whatever project the city undertook, the Wisconsin Public Service Commission would have to approve and authorize water rate increases.

—The PSC would also regulate the size of pipeline the city could install, and there was doubt it would approve Appleton putting in a big pipeline to Lake Michigan now with the thought of later serving other communities with it.

Other Rates

—Appleton needs more water now if it wants to attract industry, and the city has to be careful it does not out-price itself compared to rates charged by surrounding communities.

"All things considered then, I feel I have to go along with Winnebago," Tews said. "I don't know what the Wolf River group can contribute over what has already been considered and deliberated."

Tews thought reopening of the water issue would in effect be scrapping what has been planned over the past three years. "I can see where another meeting would take a lot of time with the experts coming up with the same answers we got from the other experts," Tews added.

He also said the City has contracts with two Chicago firms for the water plant and pipeline project, and warned if the city stopped now it might be inviting litigation.

"You mean these firms would be so vicious they might sue us over a little delay?" Buckley responded.

Kind of Water

Ald. Roy Pointer (14th) told the board that by going to Winnebago the city would obtain a different kind of water than it does now even though the Fox River represents the lake overflow. Pointer said at least three communities have treatment plant discharge into the area where Appleton presently has its intake line.

"I'm agreeable to letting the Winnebago project proceed as approved by the council and reactivating the Lake Michigan proposal wouldn't hurt any," Pointer said.

Buckley said he would still attempt to get other communities to join Appleton now in a Lake Michigan project.

At one point Public Works Director Bues questioned whether it was wise to say the present water source was adequate. He reminded that federal grants are authorized communities which have an urgent water problem. Bues felt Appleton did and urged there be no further delays in obtaining a new water source.

It was Bues' opinion the city should proceed to Lake Winnebago.

Works Board Will Not Delay Pipeline Project

spend $14 million or more at this time to go it alone.

During the meeting several mild criticisms were leveled at Buckley.

Ald. Arthur E. Mueller (19th) said the mayor had written letters to city officials to attend the board meeting to discuss water project development but that he had not notified the city water commission. "They are not even here today," Mueller commented.

More Experts

Some members also questioned why the mayor had asked Gordon Bubolz and the Wolf River Basin Planning Commission to arrange contacts for his open forum meeting, claiming any more experts would tell the city the same thing as did the other qualified experts.

Also questioned was a statement by Buckley to the effect the quality of the Fox River, from which the city now derives its supply but will abandon as soon as possible, would be safe for four to 15 years.

"There's a lot of water in the river and it will still be good to drink for quite some time," Buckley said. The mayor said he was told this but did not identify the source of his information.

Ald. Glenn Thompson (13th) told Buckley he was familiar with what comes out of the Fox River and pointed out the serious problem facing the city at this point is that the water cannot be filtered (treated) fast enough to meet demands.

"Mr. Gallaher, our water superintendent, says the situation is critical," Thompson said.

Paper Mills

Thompson said if the City of Appleton is to supply local paper mills it will need more water to do so.

Other board members said Appleton could not expect to attract any new water-using industry in view of the fact it was having trouble meeting the requirements of existing firms. "Let's face it," Ald. John Ayers (12th) interjected, "the river water we are using is the worst in the United States to treat."

"All I'm asking for is a two to three months delay, and the experts will be brought in by the Wolf River Commission without any cost to the city," Buckley declared.

He was reminded that since 1963 the city, regional plan commission and public water supply division of the State Board of Health conducted a series of public meetings here in hopes of getting cities interested in a cooperative Lake Michigan pipeline project.

Two Alternatives

As a result, board members said, the city was left with two alternatives — going to Michigan alone or tapping Lake Winnebago

Alds. Alvin E. Tews and Public Works Director Robert Bues emphasized that a major portion of the money to be expended on the Winnebago project would not be wasted.

They said $1 million would be spent for an expansion to the water treatment plant regardless of which lake the city tapped. The board was also informed the pipeline to be laid from the plant to Oneida Street and Highway 114 would still be used when the city continued on to Lake Michigan in years to come.

Bues warned the city might lose any chance it has of getting the $1.5 million federal grant for Lake Winnebago if it held up the project or filing application for same.

However, the board generally agreed with Buckley that Lake Michigan represented the ultimate answer to solving the local and regional water problem. But they felt Appleton was in no position to wait, citing any type of expansion would take more than a year or two for construction purposes.

Ald. Clifford Radder (16th), who said he favored Lake Michigan, reminded the board that three years ago, the original estimate for Appleton "going it alone" was $11 million.

"In three years the cost has gone up $3 to $4 million," Rader declared. "The longer we delay doing something about our water problem the more it is costing us."

Buckley took the position that with federal aid now available for water expansion programs, other communities in the Valley may have changed their minds and will decide to go along with Lake Michigan now. He said this aid was not available to them when previous talks were held.

The mayor also thought there was a shorter route to Lake Michigan than recommended by water department and city-contracted consulting firms. Bues told him it was most feasible to follow the consultants' proposals which call for using public right-of-way and paralleling the railroad tracks when laying a pipeline.

It was disclosed federal officials wrote the city last week and urged the city to file its federal grant application within 10 days.

Buckley said even if the city listed the Lake Winnebago project on the federal grant application, he was sure it could be amended later to include Lake Michigan.

Dick Gregory Sentenced to 5 Months in Jail

CHICAGO (AP) — Entertainer Dick Gregory was sentenced to five months in the Cook County (Chicago) Jail and fined $1,400 today on charges of resisting arrest and of battery during a civil rights demonstration June 11, 1965

Magistrate Maurice W Lee in Circuit Court, in passing sentence on the Negro comedian, said that although Gregory contended he was exercising his constitutional right "no one has the right to break the law."

Council Sets June Date for Deciding Bond

September, 1967 — the date tentatively scheduled for opening at least one wing of the proposed Highlands School.

120 More Pupils

Dr. Whitney said the St. Pius X action will put 120 more first graders in the public school system in September, 1967.

William H. Spears, superintendent of schools, said that there are presently 450 to 475 children living in the area of the proposed site. Coupled with the additional pupils from St. Pius X, the number of children attending the Highlands School would total about 600 — nearly 300 less than the capacity of a four - section school. The addital space in a four section school would provide for eventual growth, Spears said.

The proposed school will include an orthopedic wing for handicapped children. In reporting on the availability of federal funds for construction, Spears said they are presently available only for schools in "impacted areas." He also said that $5,000 to $10,000 would be available from the federal government for equipment in the orthopedic wing, provided the equipment was justified by some special need of the handicappd children.

$1 Million King Grant Wins Okay

MADISON (AP) — The Veterans Administration has approved a federal grant of $1 million towards construction of a $2.5 million veterans nursing care facility at King, the governor's office announced Tuesday.

The 200 - bed building authorized by the State Building Commission will be the first started under a new veterans administration program to stimulate construction of state facilities. The Wisconsin grant is the largest approved so far.

Completion is scheduled for 1968. The King home now cares for 352 persons.

asked to fix up the property. Magnette said usually 30 days is allowed to do so. If there is no compliance then, the matter is referred to the city attorney's office.

Mueller contended the process was "dragged out much longer than that." He told of an incident in which a building was reported to the health department, declaring, "All the inspector did was take a look and then never did anything about it."

Ald Roy Pointer (14th) told Mueller to his knowledge a certain procedure had to be followed and there was no shortcut under the law.

Make Motion

The motion to have two buildings — one a barn and the other a house — razed was made by Ald. Glenn Thompson (13th).

"I feel the time has come to take positive action on this problem of old, rundown buildings," Thompson said.

"Maybe the owners of these kind of shacks will become aware it will cost them if the city orders the buildings razed and start taking them down themselves."

Cost of razing condemned buildings is assessed to the property owner.

Earlier in the week a member of the city plan commission deplored the lack of action on the part of city departments in coping with blight problems.

Oconto Sheriff Handled Rape Case Promtly, but Judgment Criticized

MADISON — Oconto County Sheriff Rupert Haave's handling of a statutory rape case was done promptly and responsibly but he exercised bad judgement or was negligent in three respects, according to a report given Gov. Warren Knowles.

The report stated there was no violation of the law in Haave's actions and insufficient credible evidence of any official misconduct on his part to warrant suspension proceedings.

Atty Gen. Bronson La Follette made the report on an investigation of Haave's handling of the case here this morning. The investigation and report were the work of Attorney Robert Parins of Green Bay, named special counsel by La Follette after La Follette received a complaint about Haave's actions.

La Follette said he informed the governor that he concurs with Parins' recommendations.

The utility said its present office and parking space had become inadequate.

Kaukauna Petitioners Oppose Store Debris

Situation Referred to City Attorney by Mayor Bayorgen; Consider New Ordinance

KAUKAUNA — The new council was greeted Tuesday night with a petition and a delegation of citizens objecting to what they termed an unsightly condition of a second hand store on Wisconsin Avenue.

Petitioners asked the council to remedy the situation. They claimed the sidewalk and property surrounding the store was cluttered with a variety of items, often forcing people to walk on the street when passing the establishment.

They said the debris outside was a breeding place for rodents and a hazard to children playing in the area. Some claimed their property was being devalued because of the store. They asked why that property had no parking restrictions while other businesses on the street were faced with 1-hour parking limits.

Fire Hazard

Several said the place constituted a fire hazard and felt the fire and health departments should work together to clean up the area.

Mayor Joseph Bayorgeon said the matter will be studied by the city attorney, legislative, and public protection and safety committees and an ordinance prepared to solve the problem.

Fire Chief William Haupt told the council he would talk to the property owner and see that the area was cleaned up to remove the fire hazard. The police were instructed to enforce the ordinance against placing items on public sidewalks.

Mrs. James Nagel asked the city attorney what action he was contemplating on the incompatibility of offices of Dr. George Behnke. Dr. Behnke serves as president of the board of education and city health officer, two positions termed incompatible by the state. Mrs. Nagel has been trying for more than a year to have him resign one of the positions.

City Atty. Donald Green said he had no files on the case to date, but would give her an answer soon. Green was elected to the office in April and was attending his first council session.

Aldermen authorized the finance committee to raise the base pay for beginning firemen and policemen from $5,300 to $5,500. The new rate was formerly paid to new employes after a 6-month probation period.

Plans were made for a 3 p.m. May 16 meeting with the planning commission and Max Anderson, representative of the planning firm preparing a master plan for the city, to discuss federal aid in financing the program.

A resolution was adopted honoring Ruth Wolf who served 19 years as city treasurer but did not seek re-election this year. Mayor Bayorgen's appointment of Richard Helf to the planning commission was approved.

Aldermen authorized the appropriation of $550 to send 150 school patrol cadets to a Milwaukee outing on May 25.

A request from officers of St. Aloysius congregation for pavement in their new parish area was delayed until 1967 when the project can be included in the budget.

The legislative committee was instructed to prepare an ordinance prohibiting trucking on Hendricks Avenue extended to Tenth Street, on Third Street and Kenneth Avenue and on Delanglade, Desnoyer, Lincoln, Green and Tobacnour streets.

Conradt Hits Johnson's Farm Policy

Resolution Flays Cheese Imports, Cut In Use of Butter

MADISON — Assemblyman Ervin W. Conradt, Shiocton, this week introduced a resolution in the May session of the State Legislature critical of the Johnson Administration's farm policies.

Conradt, a Republican who represents Outagamie County's Third Assembly District, said in his resolution that "recent federal actions designed to reduce the consumption of butter and to increase imports of foreign cheese are adding to the already serious plight of the American dairy farmer.

"The present administration has been waging a war against poverty, but the Johnson-Freeman agricultural policies are creating poverty in parts of Wisconsin where it never existed before," Conradt stated. "Agriculture Secretary Freeman's proposal to permit the import of almost one million additional pounds of foreign made cheddar cheese in the next three months has already lowered the wholesale price of Wisconsin cheddar cheese by three cents a pound.

McNamara Order

"Defense Secretary McNamara's order to the Army and Air Force prohibiting the purchase of butter seriously jeopardizes the economic well being of thousands of Wisconsin farm families," he added.

"The Johnson administration's proposal to curtail the federal school milk program not only deprives many needy children of a vital health food, but seriously damages the dairy industry of this state.

"This war on the dairy farmer waged in Washington weakens the economy of Wisconsin and undermines the competitive position of the Wisconsin dairy farmer both at home and in the world market," Conradt concluded.

Calumet Group to Hear Of Proposed Retardate Center in Green Bay

SHERWOOD — Robert J. Allen, executive director of the Brown County Association for Retarded Children, will discuss the proposed new community center for retardates in Green Bay with members of the Calumet chapter at 8 p.m. Monday in Twain School, east of Stockbridge.

Allen is expected to appeal for funds for the new facility which will serve 10 counties. A federal grant has been made for the center.

Also scheduled to speak is Miss Hilda Cavanough, Manitowoc, supervisor of the Calumet County special education program.

A president and treasurer will be elected at the meeting.

Council Requests Federal Action on Grant For Improvements Set at Sewage Plant

KAUKAUNA — Aldermen Tuesday night, accepted a $10,020 bid from Kerrigan and Sanderfoot, Appleton, for sidewalk installations this year.

Low bid was 38 cents per square foot for 4-inch walk and 55 cents per square foot for 6-inch walk. Three bids were received, high being $10,420.

The clerk was instructed to notify the State Committee on Water Pollution that the city would like to have approval by July 1 for federal aid to help finance improvements at the sewage plant. The council floated a $500,000 bond issue last year for the project.

Ronald Biechler asked approval to enlarge his tavern business and was advised to make application to the board of appeals.

Approval was given to hire 36 students to assist with the summer recreation program with 10 additional names listed for hiring as soon as openings exist.

Approval was given to the transfer of city owned property to Outagamie County to establish a shooting range. Final action on the transfer will depend on a public hearing. Aldermen authorized hiring four men as park caretakers from Memorial Day through Labor Day.

The clerk was instructed to notify Helen Garrison the city wishes to purchase her property adjacent to Riverside Park. A purchase offer by another owner in the area was rejected, but may be considered at a future date.

Approval was given to the purchase of a $350 power saw for the fire department. Aldermen approved a letter to Giddings and Lewis Machine Tool Co., thanking the firm for the use of their property the last five years as a playground area.

A letter from the Public Service Commission informing the council of a study of utility records and books prior to approval of construction of a $420,000 substation in Combined Locks was referred to the Utility Commission.

Wisconsin's Health

Spring Time to Take It Easy, Prevent Household Accidents

BY E. H. JORRIS, M. D.
State Health Officer

This is the time of year when the urge to clean house and to start digging in the yard becomes overwhelming It's also the time when the suggestion to "take it easy" can be important both for health and safety.

Perhaps the best reasons for this reminder can be found in the 12 - page report on Fatal Home Accidents now being released by the Statistical Services Division of the State Board of Health The report covers the year of 1964 with some facts about the previous five years included

Almost one-fourth of all accidental deaths in Wisconsin occur as a result of home accidents. Since 1960 they have averaged 480 per year, with 1964 accounting for only 400 Falls caused almost 50 per cent of the deaths and fires 16 5 per cent Deaths by poisons including both gasses and other substances are in third place for a total of 9 7 per cent.

All three of these home accident causes are related very closely to good housekeeping Preventing them is first of all a matter of getting rid of all the hazards you possibly can, then learning to live safely with those you cannot eliminate.

The report of Fatal Home Accidents points out a number of interesting facts More males are killed in home accidents than females, perhaps because they are likely to undertake the more dangerous tasks around the home and yard such as putting up or taking down screens and storms, for example, or repairing wiring

More than half of the fatal home accidents are among persons aged 65 and over For this age group, home accident fatalities greatly exceed motor vehicle fatalities with falls the most frequent cause The risk of accidental death in the home is second highest among infants and pre-school children The 15 to 24-year age group has the best record in avoiding fatal home accidents this is the exact opposite of their record for motor vehicle fatalities

January is the worst month for fatal home accidents when ice snow, and cold add to the other hazards December and March are also above the average Safest months to stay home are July and August

Even the marital status seems to have something to do with accidents because widowed persons have a fatal home accident death rate about three times that of married persons

What about the advice to take it easy? Fatigue can lead to accidents, as can hurrying, undertaking too big a job for a single day or for one person alone, or keeping on working when common sense tells you you're sick and should see a doctor Taking a break now and then is a good idea. And in the case of "spring housecleaning fever," putting off till tomorrow may be the best medicine to take.

USDA Plans to Extend Food Stamps in State

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department plans to extend its food stamp plan to 59 new areas in 17 states during May

This would be the largest expansion in a single month's time in the plan's five-year history.

Under the plan, eligible low income consumers get stamps from the government to supplement their ability to buy food at regular retail stores.

By the end of May, the plan is expected to be operating in 298 counties and cities in 38 states and the District of Columbia and serving more than one million consumers.

The states in which extensions are planned include Wisconsin.

Humphrey Says Chinese 'About Face' Is Needed

U.N. Membership Is Not Likely Until Charter Principles Honored

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey said today that only when Communist China does an about face on aggressive policies should she be considered for United Nations membership

Humphrey, who has staunchly supported President Johnson s Asian policies, expressed this view after Sens Edward M Kennedy, D-Mass , and George McGovern, D-S D , proposed in the Senate Tuesday the creation of a high-level commission to reassess U S relations with China

Kennedy suggested it might be possible to work out an arrangement by which mainland China and Taiwan could have seats in the world organization. McGovern called for an end to U.S. opposition to China's admission, with the international body to determine Formosa's status

Wants Formosa

Without direct reference to these proposals, Humphrey was asked in an interview what he believes U S policy should be with regard to admission of Communist China.

He replied

"When Communist China is willing to consider membership in the U N. on the basis of abiding by the charter, being a peace - loving nation, a nation that will respect the principles of the charter, and also when she ceases to insist that Formosa be handed over to her lock, stock and barrel, then she would surely be a likely candidate for the U.N "

Humphrey went on to say, however, that mainland China had never applied for U N membership except with demands for revision of the present charter

Still An "Aggressor"

"She stands as yet designated as an aggressor in the resolution of the United Nations Assembly in the Korean war," he said "She has not indicated any great desire to come into the United Nations "

Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield said the Kennedy - McGovern proposal for a commission study of China policies is "worth consideration "

The White House reaction was to refer questioners to the State Department.

State Department press officer Robert J. McCloskey said the proposals would be carefully studied

Peking Discussions

He added "I should point out problems with Peking receiving constant attention on the highest level of the government. They are regularly discussed with many other governments and indeed with Peking."

The latter was a reference to ambassadorial talks at Warsaw. a contact Kennedy told the Senate was inadequate and "barren of results " He suggested similar talks in Paris and London

Chairman J W Fulbright of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee endorsed the Kennedy-McGovern proposal

Fulbright, who has been critical of President Johnson's Viet Nam policies, said such a commission would be free of "inhibitions that naturally affect those of us in public office" in dealing with the politically delicate matter of China policy

Henry Ford II Says Safety Left to Makers

Industry Should Have Done More to Cut Highway Death Toll

DETROIT (AP) — Henry Ford II, chairman of the nation's second largest automaker, says the industry should have done more in the past to promote highway safety.

Ford said current congressional hearings on auto safety — which often feature witnesses critical of the industry — are performing "a valuable educational function "

However, Ford told a national purchasing agents convention Tuesday, "automobiles have been subjected to much irresponsible and uninformed criticism. Too much effort has been devoted to assessing guilt, too little to the rational search for constructive solutions "

Hearings 'Constructive'

"Until very recently," Ford said, "most of the initiative for the improvement of traffic safety came from the automobile industry. Nevertheless, with the benefit of hindsight, I wish that we in the industry had done even more even sooner

"We did not act soon enough and vigorously enough to help combat the rising toll of highway accidents."

Hearings by the House Commerce Committee "have helped create the climate of public opinion that is needed for constructive action," he said. "And they have certainly taught us in the auto industry that we have to expand and intensify our longterm efforts to build better and safer cars."

Exaggerated Design

But witnesses, Ford said, have exaggerated auto design as a safety factor, while "the potential for major gains through improvements in highways, drivers and law enforcement has been played down."

The industry has studied the issues, "considered carefully the views of our critics" and made suggestions for vehicle regulation, Ford said.

"We know very well that our suggestions will not be embraced in total by Congress, but we believe we have something important to contribute to the solution of this problem."

Anti-Inflation

White House May Try To Ease Dissatisfaction

WASHINGTON (AP) — A presidential committee meets today amid inklings that the White House may consider new anti-inflation machinery to placate labor and business dissatisfaction with wage-price guidelines.

"It will take a look at the general economic situation and how to cope with the threat of inflation in an expanding economy," said a spokesman for the newly revived President's advisory committee on labor-management policy.

While there was no hint that Johnson has any thought of abandoning the guidelines, labor members of the committee expressed cautious hope they might be revised to give workers more room to win a bigger share of profits.

Stiff Warning

The meeting of the 21-man committee follows chief White House economist Gardner Ackley's stiff warning to businessmen Monday that rapidly climbing prices and profits could escalate wage demands and bring on an economic "bust."

The U.S. Chamber of Commerce, to whom Ackley directed the administration's strongest appeal to date for price restraint, declined comment on the committee meeting.

Other major business groups also were silent on the two-day meeting to be held in the White House or the executive office building nearby.

Policies Denounced

Both labor and business have denounced the current wage-price guideline policy, but for different reasons. Labor's complaints have been by far the strongest.

AFL-CIO President George Meany, a committee member, and other labor leaders argue that the White House formula seeking to limit wage hikes to 3.2 per cent a year tries to put an automatic lid on workers while leaving free reign for business profits, stock dividends and corporation executives' salaries

Many recent wage settlements have substantially exceeded the guidelines.

College Dropout

Scientists Regard Youth, 19, As Equal in Technical Field

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The theories of scientists interested Jesse M. Salb when he was five years old.

Now, at the age of 19, he is used to the fact that his own scientific theories interest others.

Although Salb is a college dropout, other scientists listened to him as an equal Tuesday as he delivered a paper before the American Society for Microbiology. And well they might: it was the second paper on virus-cell interaction he has delivered to the group in as many years

The findings were made while working as a senior research assistant with Dr Philip I. Marcus, 39, an associate professor of microbiology and immunology at Albert Einstein College of Medicine in New York City. He has been working with Marcus since he was 14

Fielded Questions

"Now I have half the lab to myself," the slightly-built youth told an interviewer after fielding a number of intricate questions from scientists who packed the convention auditorium

A lab is nothing new to Salb who started one as a preschooler with a child's chemistry set Soon he had taken over a room in the family home in Monsey, a Rockland County town near New York City

The smells of chemicals pervaded the house, but his parents, Seymour and Ethel Salb didn't seem to mind "They had no objections at all to my not doing other things They left me alone " he said

Poor in Biology

Does he wish now that they hadn't?

"Perhaps I have developed in a one-sided way, but now I don't have time to pursue other interests, being in the lab so much But I'm aware of it, and that helps "

"Of course I'm making certain sacrifices, and there are certain things I will never know," said Salb who dropped out of City College of New York last spring after completing his freshman year, a year in which he admittedly "did rather poorly in biology "

"I think I can get a better education outside of college " he said, adding that he felt college classes too categorized

Oldest Student

Mother Walker Will be 117 Years of Age, More or Less

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn (AP) — "This little light God gave me — I'm going to let it shine."

The words are those of Mrs. Mary Walker, whose light has been shining since 1849, more or less, when she was born a slave in Bullock County, Ala.

Today, or sometime this spring, "Mother Walker" will be 117 years old. The exact age is a moot point, and not very important anyway

What is important is that "Mother Walker" will have a citywide birthday party Friday, at which she will officially be certified as America's oldest student. A representative of U.S. Commissioner of Education Harold Howe will do the honors

No records were kept back when Mrs Walker was born, or when she was raised by a white family in Montgomery, Ala But she soon married and "went to farming" with her new husband Then came a date she does remember

"I was 20 on the 26th of August, a Sunday, 1869," she says with a smile "I remember that date because that was when my first son was born "

The son — the first of three, all now dead — died three years ago at age 94.

About one year after his

death, Mrs. Walker came down from her third-floor apartment in a modern high-rise apartment project to sit in on a class sponsored by the Chattanooga area literacy movement, an organization formed and supported by nongovernment funds.

"I decided I'd better do something," she says "I didn't know anything "

Since that time, says teacher Helen Kelley, she has progressed as well or better than most of the other 19 members of her class — the youngest member of which is 60.

"She is ahead of some of them, way ahead," says Mrs Kelley

The class deals with the fundamentals — reading, writing and arithmetic. Since September 1964, Mrs. Walker has learned to read, write script and add and subtract

Mrs Walker, who still walks unaided, sees well with the aid of bifocal glasses. She hears without trouble, sews and cooks cakes "light as a feather," according to Mrs Kelley.

Milwaukee, West Bend Men Killed

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The death of a Milwaukee pedestrian has boosted Wisconsin's 1966 highway death toll to 269, compared with 262 on this date a year ago.

Anthony Opachen, 56, of Milwaukee, was killed early today when he was struck by a car near Milwaukee's downtown area

Another traffic fatality was reported earlier.

The victim, William Plischoung 26, West Bend, was injured in a two car accident Sunday and died Tuesday night of head injuries in West Allis Memorial Hospital. The mishap occurred on Highway 45 north of Kewaskum in Washington County.

Benson Humbled By Suggestion Of Conservatives

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) — A suggestion that conservatives unite behind him as a presidential candidate in 1968 has been well received by Ezra Taft Benson.

The former Secretary of Agriculture said Tuesday he was not now a candidate for any public office, but he left the door open for his becoming a candidate in the future He said he was "humbled and complimented" by the suggestion.

He commented on a proposal in Milwaukee Monday by industrialist William J. Grede, that conservatives choose Benson as their candidate in the next presidential election.

Grede, a founding member of the John Birch Society, announced Monday the formation of the 1976 committee, which has as its goal a conservative revival by 1976, the 20th anniversary of the Declaration of Independence.

Final Tribute Given To Senator McNamara

DETROIT (AP) — President and Mrs. Lyndon B Johnson and a party of 20 senators join those paying final tribute today to U S. Sen. Patrick V. McNamara

The President and the First Lady attended the last rites at noon in Detroit's Holy Name Roman Catholic Church

McNamara, 71, died of a stroke Saturday at Bethesda Naval Hospital, Bethesda, Md. He was under treatment for a blood clot in a lung

Jakarta Report Says Indonesian Communist Killed

TOKYO (AP)—A report from Jakarta today said that M H Lukman, No 2 man in the Indonesian Communist party, was killed last Friday by army troops when he tried to escape from them

The report came from the semiweekly newspaper Ampera, which on Monday reported that Lukman had been captured in West Java.

Antara, the official Indonesian news agency, said that Ampera reported today that Lukman was caught at the home of a Chinese doctor near Jakarta by troops of the Siliwangi division and was killed when he tried to run away

Lukman had been missing since the attempted Communist coup last October D. N Aidit, the chairman of the Indonesian Communist party, was reported killed by army troops several months ago.

Wins Chicago Award

CHICAGO (AP) — Charles Yanofsky of Stanford University has been named the 1966 winner of the University of Chicago's Howard Taylor Ricketts Award for outstanding contributions to the field of biochemistry and genetics

Income Tax

Questions and Answers

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions about the new tax withholding system which became effective May 1, 1966.

Q — What will the new income tax withholding rates do to my take home pay?

A — Generally speaking, the new system will increase take home pay for those who have been overwithheld and reduce take home pay for those who have been underwithheld.

To find out what the effect will be on your paycheck, ask your employer or the local IRS office for a copy of IRS Document 5642. Tables in this one-page fact sheet will enable you to compare the amounts withheld under both the new and the old system.

Q — Who has to file a new withholding exemption certificate?

A — All married people must file a new Form W-4 if they want tax withheld at the rates from the table for married persons instead of table for single persons. The law says that unless an employee files a new W-4 withholding form with his employer indicating he is married, he will be considered single for tax withholding purposes.

Some widows and widowers also will be concerned with filing a new Form W-4, and should see IRS Document 5642 for details.

Actually, all employees should review their withholding situation to see whether another W-4 should be filed.

Q — When do the new withholding rates start?

A — The rates become effective May 1 and apply to amounts paid on or after that date.

Q — Can I still claim fewer exemptions than I am entitled to under the new withholding system?

A — Yes, you can still claim fewer exemptions than you are entitled to, but the graduated withholding rates are designed to bring withholding closer to actual tax liability and it may not be necessary for you to drop any of your exemptions.

Q — If the new withholding system is going to give the government more revenue isn't that a tax increase?

A — No. The graduated withholding rates will only speed up collections, they will not change total yearly tax liabilities. In other words, the government will only be getting the amount of taxes it is entitled to at present rates but it will be getting it sooner.

Q — How will the new rates on withholding effect estimated tax payments for employees?

A — Generally, estimated tax declarations are required when the tax for the year exceeds tax withheld by $40 or more. For middle and upper income taxpayers, it should also reduce the amount required for estimated payments. Thus, under the new withholding rates, some employees may no longer need to file an estimate.

If you have to file declarations of estimated tax, check to see whether the increased withholding under graduated rates will meet your total tax liability.

Q — How can the new system reduce withholding for some people when the lowest rate is still 14 per cent?

A — The new system has been designed to take the minimum standard deduction into account. This was not done under the old system. Also, the new system makes a distinction between separate and joint returns so withholding is lower for married taxpayers than it is for single taxpayers.

Q — Can widows and widowers be considered married for withholding purposes?

A — For payroll purposes a widow or widower is considered married for the year of the spouse's death and for the two following years if he qualifies as a surviving spouse. Widowers or widows should claim their exemptions on line 2 of Form W-4. This is the line for married persons.

Q — What's the highest rate of withholding under the new system?

A — The top rate is 30 per cent.

Plan in Advance If You Are Going to Buy Home

BY SYLVIA PORTER

We are approaching the peak season for home-buying. This spring alone more than 1,000,000 U. S. families are in the market for a house; in all of 1966, the estimate is more than 3,000,000 families will buy a house.

What are the basic rules and pitfalls for the home shopper? How much can you afford to spend? Here are your basic guidelines:

Shop first for a reliable real estate agent, unless you are highly informed yourself on available houses and prices in the area where you intend to buy. If you do not know a responsible agent, personally or by reputation, try to find a member of the National Association of Real Estate Boards.

Select Neighborhood

Decide in advance what type of home you want, in what neighborhood, how much space you need. Don't take on more of a house than you can afford. The traditional rule of thumb is that you can afford a house costing 2 to 2½ times your annual income.

You can afford more if you have substantial savings, have sound reasons for expecting your income to increase steadily or have a small family and low living expenses. You should pay less than 2½ times if your down payment is to be very low, if your income is irregular, if your job may force you to move fairly soon, or if your regular living costs are high.

Ask these key questions about any neighborhood you are considering: where and how good are local schools? What about churches, stores, recreational and cultural facilities? What are the transportation facilities? (Particularly important if you will commute to work and if this could mean you'll need a second car).

Investigate Zoning

Does the community have a master zoning plan, with a procedure for effective controls over runaway development? Will the zoning regulations leave you free to build a swimming pool, or rent out a room or use your home for business purposes?

How high are real estate taxes? Low taxes, incidentally, may not be a bargain if they mean inferior schools, second-rate police protection, etc. What public services — such as water, sewage system, gas, electricity, garbage collection — are provided?

If you are considering buying an old house, find out if major repairs or remodeling will be essential, and how much they are likely to cost. Include these expenses when figuring the total amount you can afford to pay. If you want to buy a new house, will you have to do the landscaping yourself? Landscaping can be very costly, so add this to your total costs.

Beware of Freaks

Don't fall for the "charming" freak house. If and when you want to resell, vital factors in boosting resale value will be a relatively conservative style, moderate size and an established, attractive neighborhood.

Force your mind to "see" the house in other, less attractive seasons than now. Visit the house on a rainy day, for this may reveal defects ranging from a leaky basement to a bad local drainage system.

A reputable real estate agent will guide you on whether the purchase price asked is fair. An FHA appraisal is a good index of value too. You also can get an independent appraiser to make an evaluation: his services may cost you from $25 to $75, but could save you well over this amount in the long run.

It you don't buy wisely, a house could be the most expensive mistake of your life. If you do buy wisely, your investment is virtually certain to grow in value over the years.

The dainty cups of Mocha Pot-de-Creme is a delicious baked cream dessert that's a French classic and seems almost designed for a bridal shower. With it go equally graceful cups of fragrant coffee, the kind to start any bride on her way to matrimonial happiness. The honeycombed paper parasol, a corsage of Sweetheart roses and the beribboned gift packages make a picture-pretty table.

Once tried, every cook will want to file the recipe for Berry Squares such as these. They make exceptional special occasion desserts because they're a flavorful multi layered combination easy to prepare with convenience foods. The angel food cake with its canned strawberry pie filling is topped with a froth of lemon pudding made extra tangy with the addition of dairy sour cream.

Seasonal Forecast: Bridal Showers

By Lillian Mackesy POST-CRESCENT FOOD EDITOR

A bridal shower serves a double purpose . . . even more if giving a party is considered the fun it should be. Friends and relatives of the bride-to-be have the chance to give the favored one the necessities for housekeeping as well as little luxuries she loves, besides providing a chance to bring together her closest friends and fellow workers to wish her well.

On such a joyous occasion the food must be as pretty as the gifts and it must be chosen wisely to fit the party. This is one glorious occasion when the hostess can really go all out in ideas; she can serve simple fare but elegant in looks. She can think up or borrow creative ideas to the point of being a bit on the "cute" side. This is one time the guests will love anything sentimental, clever or definitely elegant . . . all depending on the guest list and the hostess' inclination.

For instance, a shimmering Coffee Molasses Mousse is a beautiful sight to behold on a buffet table. It lends itself to fresh flower decor and it's quite as delicious to eat as it will look. The mousse has the rich flavor of molasses; its base is unflavored gelatin spiced with instant coffee and rum flavoring, all folded delicately into whipped cream and molded, then refrigerated until serving time.

Other molasses recipes excellent for a party are an ice

Fruit Fantasies, accented with a dressing of sour cream, mayonnaise and tangy American blue cheese, will be a delight to party guests. Especially adaptable for a bridal shower, these ingenious salads will lend a touch of springtime to the table. Shown here are Fruit Kebobs, Swan Salad and Daisy Salad. The hollowed-out pineapple holds the dressing.

Food Research Institute Goes to University of Wisconsin Soon

MADISON — The University of Wisconsin will be the new home of the Food Research Institute, which has been housed at the University of Chicago for 20 years.

E. M. Foster, University of Wisconsin bacteriologist, will take over as new director when the institute moves here July 1.

Foster explains that the institute is dedicated to the task of providing consumers with a safe food supply.

"The Food Research Institute has achieved international recognition for its excellent work on food-borne diseases," Foster says. He sees this tradition continuing at the University of Wisconsin and hopes to expand the research interests of the institute.

Research on Diseases

"It is clear that many food disease questions remain to be answered," Foster states. Botulism for instance, is still a problem for commercial food processors, as shown by the outbreak in 1963. Foster has conducted research on botulism in recent years and will continue to do so as director of the institute.

Foster says salmonellosis is increasing rapidly, and staphylococcal poisoning is still the most common food-borne disease.

"The variety and wholesomeness of foods available to U. S. consumers are unmatched anywhere in the world," he points out. "But even today there are occasional outbreaks of food poisoning, and new problems seem to be threatening."

The significance of viruses, pesticide residues and several other potential food-borne hazards is still unknown, Foster says. New hazards may be introduced as foods are processed, packaged and distributed in new ways.

The food industry is extremely important in Wisconsin, and substantial research programs on food-borne disease already are underway, primarily in the College of Agriculture and School of Home Economics.

Clearing House

In addition to the institute's basic research and training functions, it will remain a clearing house for information of possible public health significance about foods and containers. Institute personnel have worked closely with both industry and government on a variety of problems dealing with safety and wholesomeness of foods. This interest will continue at Wisconsin, Foster says.

Foster feels that the institute occupies a unique position in that it is tied to neither industry nor government.

"As an unbiased agency, we believe the institute can perform an important service to the food industry, to regulatory agencies, and to the public," Foster says.

Imaginative Dash Inspires the Chef

Slices of orange and rings of sweet onion arranged on crisp greens make a popular salad to serve with roast meat or steak. If you want to use this combination for a luncheon or Sunday-night supper salad, add slices of cooked chicken or turkey. French dressing or a mayonnaise-type dressing may be used with the orange-onion salad whether it is served with the meat or poultry.

Girl Pioneers Plan Summer Camping

About 80 girls and leaders of Lutheran Girl Pioneers District 10 met at St. Matthew Lutheran Church Saturday. The St. Matthew Unit served a 1 p.m. luncheon. District 10 includes the northern and eastern Wisconsin Synod churches.

Discussed at the meeting were arrangements for Pioneers to attend a three-day summer camp session at Camp Byron. About 300 girls are eligible for this program, to be held in August.

The annual national camp, for which about 5,000 girl Pioneers are eligible, was also discussed. The camp will be held this year at Black River Falls.

Plans for leaders and counselors to attend the Lutheran Girl Pioneers national convention at Hales Corners Saturday were made.

Projects Carried out by Lutheran Girl Pioneers of District 10 were inspected at the meeting Saturday at St. Matthew Lutheran Church. Examining the display are Mrs. Leslie Gebheim, the Rev. Sylvester Johnson, Mrs. Roland Pruno and Mrs. George Merkl. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Faith Guild Plans Annual Dinner Program

Mrs. Norman Troemel will give the welcome address and award prizes. Also participating in the program will be Miss Sharon Steinert, Mrs. D. W. Russler and her daughter, Sue, Mrs. Daniel Knowlton and Mrs. Rudolph Voll. The 'Just Five', a musical group composed of Nancy Troemel, Marge Cherkasky, Ginny Werner, Kris Miller and Kris Lueck, will perform.

Miss Schmitt, Fiance Plan August Rite

CHILTON — Mr. and Mrs. Joseph P. Schmitt, route 3, Chilton, have announced the betrothal of their daughter, Agnes, to Francis Wenig. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Wenzel Wenig, 319 Saratoga St.

Miss Schmitt is a stenographer in the office of Public Welfare. Her fiance is a mechanic for United Airlines at O'Hare International Airport, Chicago, Ill.

The couple plans an August wedding.

WSCS Plans Honor Program

KAUKAUNA — The Women's Society of Christian Service of the Methodist Church will give recognition to the Honor Society and entertain daughters at a Mother-Daughter banquet at 6 p.m. Thursday in Fellowship Hall.

Mrs. Irving Curry will have charge of the program. Friday the women will conduct a spring rummage sale in the hall from 8 a.m. to noon with Mrs. Mollie Schiedermayer as chairman. Item may be brought to the church through Thursday.

Dinner and Dancing, with a program that announced new officers and included prizes for attendance, occupied members of Chaminade Chorus, their husbands and escorts Saturday evening. It was revealed at the program that Harry Knox, director for the six years, has resigned. Above, before the dinner, are Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Roloff, Kaukauna, and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Trettin, Kaukauna. At right, Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Laux, Kaukauna, and Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Jensen, Neenah, enjoy the music. (Post-Crescent Photos)

Chaminade Introduces New Officers at Annual Party

Chaminade Chorus announced officers for 1966-67 when it closed last season's activities at its annual spring dinner and dance Saturday evening. The event, held at the American Legion Club, is a social highlight for chorus members and their husbands or escorts.

Mrs. Roy Valitchka was named to lead the chorus for the new year. Working with the president will be Mrs. Robert Roloff, Kaukauna, vice president; Mrs. Richard Walbrun, Menasha, secretary; Miss Jeannine Gorsalitz, Neenah, treasurer, and Miss Betty Puffer and Mrs. Robert Wallace, board members.

Section chairmen will be Mrs. George Walbrun, Menasha, first soprano; Mrs. Charles Kilishek, second soprano, and Mrs. Karel Richmond, alto. Mrs. Milton Schreiner Jr. will be editor of the newsletter, Chaminade Chatter.

It was announced at the program that Harry Knox, Chaminade director for the last six years, has been compelled by business commitments to give up his work with the chorus. He offered to continue to help the chorus in an advisory capacity. Mr. Knox and Mrs. Clarence Richter, who has served as accompanist since Chaminade was organized in 1942, were honored for their work.

Your Problems

Harass Dying Man for Spending 'Their' Money Now

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a man in my late 60's and the doctors have told me I don't have a great deal of time left. I am not feeling sorry for myself. I've lived a full life and have enjoyed most of it. The problem is two of my three children. They are already fighting over my money.

I've always had a good relationship with my youngest son and his wife. This son has handled my finances for the past ten years and I have complete confidence in him. I have given him and his wife money for anniversaries and birthdays because they have been wonderful to me. The other children have not been so wonderful and I have not done the same for them.

Yesterday the two older boys and their wives came to tell me that I should stop giving away their money. According to them, any money I have belongs to the estate — and they plan to share in it.

When I told them I wasn't dead yet my daughter-in-law

piped up, "It won't be long now."

Please tell me if I have a right to give away my money as I please, or if it's considered part of the estate because I am old and ill. — Old Timer

Dear Old Timer: So long as you are mentally competent you can give your money to whomever you please. I urge you to see a lawyer at once, make a will, and leave nothing to chance. It would be a shame if that lippy daughter-in-law were not dealt with according to your wishes.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Please re-word my letter and make it printable. I'm not much of a writer but I need help badly.

Our 16-year-old daughter has some awfully cute girl friends. They sometimes spend the night at our home which is fine with me. I'm pleased our daughter has such fine friends. The problem is my husband. He just can't keep his hands off the young girls. I have seen him pull them on his lap and beg for hugs and kisses. The poor things don't know what to do or say.

On two occasions I spoke to my husband (privately, of course) and he tore into me like a wildcat. He insists that I am evil-minded and jealous and that he is just being fatherly.

I asked him how he would like it if the fathers of these girls pawed his daughter. He said I was crazy and that I ought to see a doctor. If you think my husband is right please say so. If you think I am right I'd appreciate your support. — N. M.

Dear N. M.: You are right. If that eight-handed lithario thinks he's being fatherly, suggest that he talk to a physician who has some good psychiatric orientation. He may learn a thing or two.

Coup May Occur at End of Hand

BY ALFRED SHEINWOLD

When you hold A-J-x of a suit and an opponent opens the king of that suit, you play low very casually. If the opponent continues with the suit (hoping that his partner has the ace or jack), you get two tricks instead of just one. This play, the Bath Coup, may be made with lower cards late in a hand.

West leads the queen of clubs, and South sees that he is in danger of losing three hearts and a diamond. East clearly has all of the missing hearts, and will get three tricks in that suit unless South calls the Bath Coup to his aid after careful preparation.

Declarer takes the first trick in dummy with the ace of clubs, ruffs a club, and draws three rounds of trumps. It would be a mistake to lead the hearts at once. South must first get the diamonds out of the way.

South leads the king of diamonds, and East takes the ace and returns the suit. South takes his two diamond tricks and is ready to play hearts.

South leads a low heart and plays the king from dummy. East's best play is to take the ace and return the jack of hearts.

If declarer wins in dummy with the queen, he will eventually lose two more heart tricks to the ten and eight.

Declarer makes the contract by refusing to take the jack of hearts. It is a Bath Coup situation. If East leads another heart, dummy gets a trick with the nine as well as with the queen.

East cannot gain by leading a different suit because then dummy will ruff while South gets rid of a losing heart. Either way, South is sure to make the contract.

Daily Question

Partner opens with one spade, and the next player passes. You hold: S A 10 9 2; H K Q 9 2; D 7 6 4; C A 7. What do you say?

Answer: Bid three spades. This forcing raise shows strong trump support of at least four cards, with about 13 to 16 points including distribution as well as high cards. In this case you have 13 points in high cards and 1 point for the doubleton.

Meal-in-One Treat Low in Calories

With all the sudden emphasis on low-calorie recipes, there seems to be a magnificent supply of desserts but very few recipes for entrees or the main dish for a meal.

This one today features fish and fresh asparagus just at a time when this vegetable should soon begin to push its spears above ground in backyard gardens. Asparagus is becoming more and more plentiful in markets and the price also is a bit more attractive. The lull in the California crop has been filled in with shipments from the garden state of New Jersey and Washington state.

Guest diners at your house would never know that a dish as good as this could have the added bonus of being so low in calories. Besides, it has the advantage of being a meal-in-one, easy to prepare and serve.

Miss Vande Hey

Engagement Of Daughter Announced

LITTLE CHUTE — The engagement of Miss Evon Mary Vande Hey to Roger Melvin Swanningson has been announced by her mother. She is the daughter of Mrs. Frederick Vande Hey, 1028 N. Buchanan St., and the late Mr. Vande Hey.

The bride-elect has been employed at Thilmany Pulp and Paper Co., Kaukauna. Her fiance, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Swanningson, 421 W. Tenth St., is serving in the Army.

Rich in protein, the encased vegetable is served on a crisp Holland rusk. The sauce in which the fish-asparagus dish is baked is served hot, spooned over the fillets. The recipe serves four persons and each serving totals 244 calories per serving.

DUTCH TREAT

- 1 pound flounder fillets (4 pieces)
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ⅛ teaspoon ground black pepper
- Grated rind 1 lemon
- 1 pkg. (10-ounce) asparagus spears (fresh or canned may be used)
- 2 tablespoons butter, melted
- ¼ cup water
- 2 tablespoons lemon juice
- 1 tablespoon finely chopped onion
- 2 teaspoons prepared mustard
- Paprika for garnish
- 4 Holland Rusk

Wash and dry fillets. Sprinkle skinned side of each fillet with combined salt, pepper and lemon rind. Partially cook asparagus spears in salted water if frozen or fresh ones used. Place about a half-dozen to each fillet, depending on ease of rolling. Roll up fillets; secure each one with toothpick. Place rolls in well-greased baking dish; brush with butter or margarine. Combine water, lemon juice, chopped onion and prepared mustard. Pour this sauce over fish. Sprinkle with paprika. Bake in a preheated, 400-degree oven from 25 to 30 minutes. Baste once or twice during baking period. Serve on Holland rusk. Spoon hot sauce from pan over fillets.

Delicious Ideas for Bridal Showers

cream punch and a spiced beverage.

Another delightful idea that needs only fragrant and full-bodied cups of coffee to go with it is the collection of French Mocha Pots-de-Creme. This is one of the classic recipes that will make a big hit with little effort at a shower party.

For a gayer mood bordering on the Whimsical, try making Fruit Fantasies. All sorts of fruits may be used to concoct these refreshing salads to make this idea good all the year around. Suggestions pictured today include Fruit Kebabs which are drained apricots, maraschino cherries, pineapple chunks and fresh strawberries on skewers. The kebabs then are stuck into a peeled avocado half.

The pert Swan Salad is made of canned pear halves "cemented" together with tinted cream cheese. The swan's head is carved from an apple slice or chunk; its eye is a whole clove.

The Daisy Salad is made quickly from apple slices cut with a daisy cutter, then brushed with lemon juice to prevent discoloration. The centers in this case are miniature marshmallows with green pepper stems and leaves.

A hollowed-out pineapple (the fresh pineapple may be used for one or more of the salads) holds the Fruit Fantasy Dressing that's a sweet and tangy blend of sour cream, mayonnaise and zesty American blue cheese. This piquant flavor of the blue-marbled cheese is a natural companion to sweet fruits

One of the best of the lot are the Berry Squares, delectable, feathery-light sweets that can star as easily at a women's farewell luncheon at season's end or for the girls of the bridge club. This one is an easy dessert to prepare when convenience foods such as strawberry pie filling, instant lemon pudding mix and a cup of dairy sour cream are used with angel food cake squares, either made from scratch or a packaged mix.

The male of the species will go for the Berry Squares as readily as will the girls. Here is the recipe, along with all the others for some Happy Shower Weather

BERRY SQUARES

- 1 angel cake, cut into half-inch squares
- 2 cups canned strawberry pie filling
- 1 pkg. instant lemon pudding mix
- 1½ cups milk
- 1 cup dairy sour cream

Place half the cake squares in a 9x9x2-inch pan Spoon pie filling over cakes; top with remaining cake squares.

Combine pudding mix, milk and sour cream; beat until smooth. Spoon over cake. Chill several hours. Cut into about nine servings.

MOCHA POT-DE-CREME

- 1½ cups whipping cream
- ½ cup strong coffee beverage
- 6 ounces grated sweet cooking chocolate
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- 6 egg yolks, slightly beaten
- 1 teaspoon vanilla

Combine cream, coffee, chocolate and sugar. Cook and stir over very low heat until chocolate melts and cream is scalded. Remove from heat. Pour a little of hot mixture onto egg yolks. Blend. Return to remaining hot mixture, blending well. Add vanilla and mix well.

Strain into pots-de-creme or custard cups. Cover. If custard cups are used, make foil covers. Set cups in pan of warm water. Bake in preheated, 300-degree oven for 20 minutes. Chill. Recipe makes six servings.

FRUIT FANTASY DRESSING

- 1 cup sour cream
- ½ cup mayonnaise
- ½ cup crumbled American blue cheese
- ¼ cup pineapple juice
- Pinch sugar
- ¼ cup crumbled American blue cheese

Blend together sour cream, mayonnaise, half-cup cheese, pineapple juice and sugar When smooth, stir in remaining quarter-cup cheese Chill until serving time

COFFEE MOLASSES MOUSSE

- 2 envelopes unflavored gelatin
- 1 cup cold water
- ½ cup sugar
- 4 tablespoons instant coffee
- 2½ cups milk
- ½ cup molasses
- 2 tablespoons rum flavoring
- 2 cups heavy cream, whipped

Sprinkle gelatin on cold water in a medium saucepan. Place over low heat. Stir constantly until gelatin is dissolved (about three minutes). Remove from heat; add sugar and instant coffee and stir until dissolved. Stir in milk, molasses and rum flavoring. Chill, stirring occasionally, until mixture is the consistency of unbeaten egg white. Fold in whipped cream Turn into a two-quart mold; chill until firm. Unmold If desired, serve with additional whipped cream. Recipe makes 10 servings

MOLASSES ICE CREAM PUNCH

- ½ cup molasses
- 2 quarts milk
- 1 quart vanilla or coffee ice cream
- Nutmeg

pour molasses into a punch bowl. Gradually stir in milk. Add half the ice cream and stir until partially melted. Top with spoonfuls of remaining ice cream. Sprinkle with nutmeg Recipe makes about 25 half-cup servings.

SPICED MOLASSES BEVERAGE

- 4 lemon slices
- 12 whole cloves
- 2 quarts apple juice
- ½ cup molasses
- 2 (2-inch) cinnamon sticks
- Juice of 2 lemons

Stud lemon slices with cloves Combine with apple juice, molasses and cinnamon sticks in a large saucepan. Bring to a boil Reduce heat and simmer 15 minutes. Remove cinnamon sticks and lemon slices. Stir in lemon juice. Chill When ready to serve, pour over ice in tall glasses. Top each with a lemon slice. Recipe makes about eight servings.

Second Nurses' Assistant Class Set in May

A second Nurses' Assistant program got underway Monday at the Family Heritage Nursing home of Neenah and Appleton. The program, sponsored by the Vocational, Technical and Adult Schools of Neenah and Appleton, is taught by Mrs. Robert Zwicker, R.N.

The program includes 60 hours of classroom instruction over a period of four weeks. From Monday through May 13 the 15 students will attend class from 1 to 5 p.m daily. They will work under supervision from May 16 through 27.

The purpose of the program is to prepare students to act as auxiliary personnel employed to help the nurse in hospitals, nursing homes and other agencies. To enroll, students may already be employed by such institutions. They are trained to perform tasks involving specified services for patients as delegated by the professional nurse and performed under her direction.

The auxiliary workers are neither professional nurses nor licensed practical nurses, although they do perform tasks necessary to patient care.

A new class is tentatively scheduled to begin after the May 27 completion date of the current program on in the state department of taxation," Huber said.

State Tax Commissioner James Morgan has repeatedly said no revenue estimates can be made until May 16, a whole month after the April personal income tax payment deadline.

The Democratic figures, revealing a wide range due to an attempt to calculate minimum and maximum levels of surplus, include three sources of state tax revenue.

Three Sources

Individual income taxes will net between $18.1 and $39.9 million Corporate income tax returns will range between $10.4 and $12.8 million and the selective sales tax will return between $9.5 and $18 million, according to the Democratic estimates.

The minimum figures, the Democrats said, were set deliberately low by underestimating the state's sales tax collections. Performance in previous years of the sales tax indicates such collections should be considerably higher.

Senate Minority Leader Richard Zaborski, Milwaukee, said he expected the executive department figures, to be reported by Morgan, will probably be considerably below the Democratic surplus estimates.

Next Fall

Gov. Warren P. Knowles would far more prefer to discover surplus revenue during next fall's gubernatorial campaign than now, Zaborski said.

Huber said the revenue surplus figures should allow the Legislature to act upon several previously planned spending measures. He singled out bills concerning property tax relief for the elderly, aids for local school districts and bills to combat water pollution.

"While I'm saying that this is a factual estimate, all I'm really saying is that we have enough money to take care of our obligations around here," Huber said.

Sen. Fred Risser, D-Madison, warned no tax reduction should be possible because the estimated surplus figures will not cover additional spending built in by law to the 1967 budget.

Tourism Hit By Increases In British Tax

will cash in on the subsidy of $1.05 per week per worker offered to private manufacturers Automobiles are one of Britain's main exports.

In the past five years, employment in the services, distribution and construction increased by more than one million while manufacturing added only 142,000 employes, Callaghan said.

The payroll tax is designed to reduce recruiting by the service industries and thus release labor for manufacturing

Transport, agriculture, and such public enterprises as gas, electricity, schools and the national health service were exempted from the payroll tax. They also will not receive the subsidy offered to manufacturers.

Astronauts Need Germs; It's Too Healthy in Space

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A wife's welcoming kiss to a returning astronaut possibly could kill him unless his diet in space included plenty of down-to-earth germs.

This could mean that astronauts may have to take bacteria pills shortly before returning to earth after extensive space travels.

Dr. T. D. Luckey of the University of Missouri Medical School discussed the potential danger of a lack of bacteria Tuesday during a symposium at the convention of the American Society for Microbiology.

He said spacemen's sterile air, food and water eventually could dangerously reduce the amount of bacteria in their systems.

The result, he said, could be bacterial illness when they come back to the bacteria-ridden earth

The bacteria pills, he said, could restore the normal balance so that the astronaut would be more immune to the bacteria on earth.

Luckey said his speculations were based upon studies he conducted with guinea pigs and rats

Spain Starts To React to Press Law

Publishers Unsure About Its Use; So Is Information Office

MADRID, Spain (AP) — A month after Spain's new press law became effective, newspaper editors and officials who administer the law are still sparring carefully.

"We are feeling each other out," said a leading newspaper director. "The law is good, but neither we who publish newspapers nor the Ministry of Information officials who enforce it are quite certain how far we can exploit the freedom it provides without some wrist slapping"

The law, brainchild of the 43-year-old minister of information, Manuel Fraga Iribarne, ended many decades of press censorship. It provided both new freedoms and new responsibilities for those who write and edit newspapers and magazines.

Ignore New Law

Those who administer the law say that many newspapers, long accustomed to strict government controls, continue to work as though the new law had never been passed

A day after the press bill became law, nationally circulated papers reported that a policeman shot and wounded two people during a demonstration of Basque Nationalists in northern Spain.

Two days later Spanish domestic news agencies reported a labor dispute in the industrial center of Bilbao Major papers carried the stories.

"We are feeling our way into press freedom, but we are still working under wraps," one newspaper director told questioners. "We feel pretty safe in publishing any story a Spanish news agency carries, but when we go out on our own, especially in matters involving politics, we tend to think first and write later."

Political Articles

Nevertheless political articles and news reports involving Spain and its future are appearing with increasing frequency. None has directly criticized the Franco regime.

Among things reported in the press have been a financial scandal in Cataolonia involving a former municipal mayor, economic strikes in various industries, direct criticism of Spain's four-year development plan, the recent wave of student disorders. Most if not all would have been banned by the official censor who disappeared with the new law.

Unfavorable to Army

One incident involved the semimonthly publication Joc, organ of the liberal-orientated young Catholic workers' group Juventud Obrera Catholica Under orders from the Archbishop of Madrid, its first April number was destroyed because it carried among other questionable articles one which could have reflected unfavorably on the Spanish army The Ministry of Information — which enforces the press law — denied responsibility for the censorship

The Roman Catholic hierarchy is a powerful force in control of the Spanish press, both before and since implementation of the press law.

Newspaper directors still repeat one complaint. Under the press law all foreign news must be funneled into Spain through a national agency — in this case the government-sponsored agency EFE.

Crow Keeps Puppy Alive For 6 Days

LIVINGSTONE, Zambia (AP) — For six days a puppy, trapped in an animal snare, was kept alive by a crow.

Both animals belong to a couple living at a temporary road construction camp.

Recently the puppy disappeared The couple searched in the thick bush surrounding the camp but no trace of it could be found.

Then they noticed that their pet crow, brought to them by a servant, did not seem to be eating normally.

The crow would take a bit of food in its beak, fly off and return a short while later to fetch another scrap of food The crow, which normally ate his food straight out of the dish, would then repeat the performance

Dog Well Fed

The couple followed the crow when it flew off again with a prize piece of meat Keeping just ahead of the couple, the crow led them to the spot where the dog lay trapped.

The dog, they found, was in almost perfect health.

Dr William MacNae, zoologist at Johannesburg's Witwatersrand University commented "This is further proof that birds especially crows, can become animal lovers themselves

"The earliest reference to this type of thing was the feeding of the Old Testament Prophet Elijah by the crows when he meditated in the wilderness."

A zoo official said crows had a tendency to form unusual friendships and when put to the test were usually courageous and faithful allies.

King High ran one-two in the Democratic gubernatorial primary, and will face each other in a run-off for the nomination.

National Implications

This race may have national implications. Burns has said Sen. Robert F. Kennedy is behind the High candidacy, pointing out that three of High's campaign workers are former employes of the federal anti-poverty program headed by Sargent Shriver, a Kennedy brother-in-law.

High ran the late John F Kennedy's presidential campaign in Florida, but says it is nonsense to contend that Robert Kennedy is behind his candidacy.

Other primary results

Alabama — Sen. John J. Sparkman, Democrat, won renomination by a large margin

Indiana — Rep Richard L Roudebush won an uphill battle against Rep Ralph Harvey for the Republican nomination for Congress from the revamped 10th District into which redistricting had thrown them both. Harvey had represented the old 10th for 18 of the last 20 years. No other Indiana congressional incumbent fell.

New Mexico — Gene Lusk of Carlsbad won the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, beating former Gov John Burroughs handily. David Cargo held a razor-thin lead over Clifford Hawley for the Republican nomination. Both are state representatives.

Ohio — Gov. James A. Rhodes, Republican, sent to easy renomination. State Sen. Frazier Reams Jr., 36, won the Democratic nomination for governor

Oklahoma — Former Gov. Raymond Gary captured the top spot in the 13-man Democratic gubernatorial primary and will face Oklahoma City Atty. Preston Moore, a former national commander of the American Legion, in the May 24 runoff. In the three-man Republican primary, State Sen Dewey Bartlett held a slight edge over Waukomis banker John N. Happy Camp and they apparently will face each other in the May 24 runoff.

Knowles Road Plan Rejected By Committee

tive had favored an acceleration plan financed through bonding alone, but agreed to the compromise last week along with Assembly Speaker Robert Huber, D-West Allis

School Aids

After the governor's address, the Senate debated a bill to appropriate additional school aids, but postponed a decision until mid-May James Morgan, taxation department commissioner, has said he would have revised tax surplus estimates available at that time.

Knowles has said he would sign an increased school aid bill if it did not require additional taxes. The Senate approved the proposal calling for a $56 million increase, but the Assembly raised the total to $11.2 million.

Anti-Secrecy Law

New legislation tightening Wisconsin's anti-secrecy law and changing the state presidential primary system was introduced in the Senate.

The Assembly approved a bill that would exclude heating, wiring and plumbing improvements of $1,000 or less from being added to the assessed valuation of the property.

A bill requiring the Committee on Water Pollution to hold hearings on potential water pollution situations was passed by the Assembly 71-23. Present law allows the committee to hold hearings on alleged pollution, but not potential pollution.

Scientists Try to Get Rid of Odor

TROY, N.Y. (AP) — Scientists at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute are at work to remove the smell created by detergents in city sewers.

Dr. Nicholas L. Ciesceri, an assistant professor of environmental engineering at RPI said Tuesday the research is aimed at developing a method to rid sewage of phosphorous, a common element of synthetic detergents.

Phosphorous, he said, acts as a food for certain algae — including the smell-producing kind.

Clarinetist Pete Fountain, who appeared at Appleton Tuesday night, is shown chatting with Mr. and Mrs Philip J. Sealy, 830 E. Variety Theater Finale

Dixieland Gets Airing In Person of Fountain

BY DAVID F. WAGNER
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

The scene could have been the French Quarter Inn on New Orleans' Bourbon Street, but it wasn't. Hot and cold Dixieland jazz is generally accustomed to dimly-lit, smoke-filled, close-quarter clubs, but Tuesday night it got an airing.

Spacious Appleton High School auditorium, with its almost antiseptic spotlights, may have been a drastic change of scenery, but the music of clarinetist Pete Fountain lost or gained nothing in the transition.

As the final attraction of Variety Theater's 1965-66 season, Fountain and entourage offered a varied program, usually in the grand old New Orleans style. They strayed from convention occasionally, adapting contemporary Broadway and pop tunes to the delight of the large audience.

Flawless Pete

As a musician, Fountain is flawless. As a clarinetist, he is to smalll groups as Benny Goodman is to big bands. His improvisations were smoothly executed, skillful in arrangement and strong support for the contention that he is "Mr New Orleans," a title Al Hirt might claim

The only complaint against Fountain was his restraint when he approached the blues. When he began the mournful, soul-drenched passages familiar to that form, he would invariably revert to quick-time, never giving himself the chance to really wail Perhaps he felt Appleton was not the spot for the blues. At any rate, the quick-time approach is a favorite trick of Southern jazzmen, but not a device that does justice to the blues.

Fountain was backed by five outstanding musicians—Paul Guna on guitar, Earl Vuiovich on piano, Oliver Felix on bass, Godfrey Hirsch on vibes and Paul Edwards on drums. Each was prominently displayed on his own "licks" and Guna and Hirsch presented solos. Guna's impressions of "Autumn Leaves" was a guitar masterpiece. Hirsch's interpretation of the "Willow Weep for Me" was well received.

The early strains of three selections were greeted by applause "A Taste of Honey," a durable favorite which is the title song of Fountain's latest album, was one of the most enthusiastically-accepted numbers Also popular with the onlookers were "Hello, Dolly" and "When the Saints Go Marching In"

There was plenty of the traditional Dixieland—"Way Down Yonder in New Orleans" (the opener, "My Blue Heaven" and "She'll Be Coming 'Round the Mountain"—but Fountain's talents were best displayed on two slower tunes: "Stranger on the Shore" (one of the few clarinet hits of this decade) and "Just a Closer Walk With Thee." The latter was a particular pleasure as the artist improvised on the rigid religious theme, sacrificing none of its dignity by the insertion of jazz phrasing

To the untrained ear, or the non-buff, Dixieland can have an unnerving redundancy, an aspect which Fountain realized. He avoided a potential alienation of his audience by thoughtful programming

To the purist, Pete Fountain falls into the same unpopular class as Al Hirt and Ramsey Lewis because he has "sacrified his art for money's sake." He may be commercial, but what's wrong with being accepted by a wide audience—especially when one is as skilled as Pete Fountain.

Frustration Prolonged by Communism

Baffling 20 Years Beginning to Show In National Unrest

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Twenty years of bafflement are beginning to show in impatience, criticism, discontent.

There were only six maddening years of dealing with Hitler from the time he took power in 1933 until he began the war in 1939 But with communism there has been prolonged frustration

First, there were the postwar years of dealing with Russia's Stalin, an impossible task and now for 16 years, or ever since they butted into the Korean war, the even more exasperating ordeal of trying to deal with the Red Chinese.

Must Be An Answer

This is the root of the dissatisfactions being expressed in Congress over the grubby, grueling war in Viet Nam, the fear the Chinese may come in, and the almost total absence of any relations with them except hostility.

If those dissatisfactions could be reduced to a simple sentence it would be this: surely, there must be some kind of answer.

This is a natural belief for any American rendered edgy by two decades of deadlocked suspense, particularly if he persists in believing there must be some solution more comforting than the present policy of watchful waiting

But the position of the Johnson administration and the State Department, which have the responsibility for conducting foreign affairs and must take the blame for any disasters, is simply this: no answer is in sight.

New in Details

The proposals made Tuesday by two Democratic senators, Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts and George McGovern of South Dakota, were new only in detail but not in kind of intent

They suggested a blue-ribbon commission of distinguished Americans be created to look at U S - China policy.

The proposals got a cool reception at the State Department where Secretary of State Dean Rusk has said China isn't seriously interested in improving relations with this country.

He has said the Chinese Reds continue to display "militancy, bitterness, hatred" and that U.S. officials have to deal with the "situation as we find it."

The administration position is that it is willing to have better relations but until the Chinese show they want that, too, U.S. policy must stand firm. Put another way, it means:

Nothing Has Changed

The United States will help nations resist Chinese aggressions and will continue to oppose membership for the Red Chinese in the United Nations. In short, nothing has changed in 16 years.

Possibly continued demands for more flexible efforts by the administration to deal with the Chinese will force some change in administration policy, but that looks doubtful at the moment.

The American future may be permanently affected by its relations with Red China in the next 20 years, good or bad, but this or any other administration must answer for the outcome, not the critics.

Kennedy and McGovern were just the latest expressing discontent and hoping for solutions. The Johnson administration has been under a critical barrage. So far it hasn't budged.

Kaukauna City, State Street Job Now Underway

KAUKAUNA — Work is underway on the joint city, state road improvement project which calls for the concrete surfacing of Plank and Green Bay Roads from 200 feet east of Lawe Street to a point about 200 feet north of the city limits.

These streets comprise the extension of State 96, which was improved to Lawe Street several years ago. Cost of this project to the city is about $31,000. Plans call for installation of 8-inch reinforced concrete roadbed and curb and gutter. The street will be 44 feet wide.

Other road projects scheduled for the city this year include a joint city, county blacktopping job on Lawe Street from DeLanglade to Arthur Street. This will also include curb and gutter installation.

Streets to be improved with concrete surfacing and curb and gutter under the city program include Arthur Street from Lawe Street to Green Bay Road, Division Street from Lawe to Lincoln Streets and Blackwell Street from Division to Ducharme Streets.

America's Famous Acting Lunts, who will be honored in Appleton Saturday night at the banquet of the Wisconsin Academy of Sciences, Arts and Letters, are shown in Chicago with actress Carol Channing, center. Miss Channing currently is playing in "Hello Dolly" there; Alfred Lunt and his wife, Lynn Fontanne were in Chicago attending the Diamond Jubilee Ball of the city's symphony orchestra. The Lunts will come to Appleton from their Wisconsin home at Genesee Depot Saturday to attend the Academy's 96th annual banquet at Colman Hall, Lawrence University. (AP Wirephoto)

3-Day Show

Old-Time Autos to be Featured at Green Bay

GREEN BAY — The "good old days" will be brought back in the Brown County Veterans Memorial Arena May 13, 14 and 15, with the staging of Wisconsin's largest Antique Auto and Hobby Show.

At least 75 of the ancient vehicles will be driven into the arena for the show, which is co-sponsored by the arena and WLUK-TV (Channel 11). The cars range from a one cylinder Reo truck and Cadillac of 1904 vintage to a 1940 Oldsmobile, which introduced hydramatic drive. In between will be virtually all of the most famous models of the first 40 years of this century.

There will also be a few "ringers," including a high wheel bicycle made in 1886 and other bikes that were used in the pre-1900 era. There will also be one 1966 car, an Oronda, which is a completely home-made auto, constructed by N. J. Neis, Neenah.

Stars of Show

But the oldsters will be the stars of the show including the 1916 Overland, 1920 Maxwell, the Model T Fords dating back to 1909, the 1912 Flanders, the 1914 Trumbull, and the 1921 Stanley Steamer.

There will also be the 1930 Ford station wagon, the first production wagon in the industry, and a 1930 Duesenberg originally owned by movie star Marion Davies.

A 1908 Buick that features a mother-in-law seat will be shown.

The autos are being provided for the show by members of the Wisconsin Horseless Carriage Club, many of whom also will bring along other items from the antique auto era, including clothes, household equipment and toys.

The doors will be opened at 5 p.m. May 13th, and at 1 p.m May 14 and 15, and the owners will be on hand to answer any questions about their autos.

PSC Approves Labor, Trucks For Harvesting

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — A long standing practice of state food processors involving the hiring of temporary help and emergency leasing of farm trucks to transport harvested crops to canning and food processing plants has been approved by the State Public Service Commission.

Affected by the approval are the growers and processors of food crops for processing grown on 300,000 acres of Wisconsin farm lands each year.

Under the terms of the agreement, food processors are enabled to lease motor vehicles on a temporary basis in order to promptly carry harvested crops to processing plants. Due to a shortage of help during harvest season, the processors may hire the owners of the trucks mostly area farmers, to drive the vehicles

The commission noted that adverse weather conditions during harvest season often create emergency conditions that cannot be met through regular certified transport companies.

The ruling, required under an act of the 1965 legislature, follows long time practice in the state food processing industry It was requested by the Wisconsin Canners and Freezers Association.

Oshkosh's Bonnett Slams Scratch 958 in Tourney

Total Highest Ever for Bowl-O-Rama; Jeff Hits 701 National Honor Set

BY JIM HARP
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

History was made in the Post-Crescent Bowl-O-Rama at the 41 Bowl Tuesday night, as the first national honor count in the 4-year span of the tournament was recorded by Jeff Bonnett, of Oshkosh.

Rolling in the men's Class A division, Bonnett fired a 701 scratch total in his first three games for the national set.

He followed up with a booming 257 game in his fourth line for a 958 scratch total to take over the lead with the highest total ever rolled in the history of the classic.

No Handicap

Bonnett, who had no pins of handicap to work with, after averaging 202 in league bowling this past season, clocked a 233 in his first game, followed with a 211 and then pasted his first of two 257 games. This gave him the national honor count. Then he followed with another 257 to vault into first place with a comfortable 62-pin lead over Lyle Tatro, of Neenah, who is second with an 896 total.

Bonnett, who is 45 years old lives at 1998-A Brooks Road, Oshkosh. He bowled in three leagues this past season and is a 20-year veteran of the lanes. He has five other national honor counts to his credit and also has rolled a pair of perfect (300) games.

Bonnett is the father of two children, a boy 19 and a girl 17. This was the second year he has competed in the Bowl-O-Rama. In the four games last night he piled up 27 strikes, including eight in each of his last two games.

Seven New Leaders

Bonnett led an assault in Class A which saw seven new faces in the top 10 listings. Joe Gregorius, Appleton, rolled into third place with a 826 scratch total and 64 pins handicap for a 890. Gregorius hit games of 208, 207, 193 and 218 for his hefty total.

Jeff Bonnett

Jim Clark, Oshkosh, grabbed a fourth place tie with 862 scratch, an average of better than 215 per game, and 24 pins handicap for 886. Cliff Smith, Clintonville, also has a 886.

Jim Weisgerber, Appleton, took over sixth place with 883; Paul Osiewalski, Menasha, went into a seventh place tie with another Appleton kegler, Rog Emrich as each recorded 876. George LaRue, of Larsen, walked off with the shift prize for the second shift on the strength of a 246 game and 19 pins

Marichal Tames Dodgers, 8-1, For Fifth Straight Victory

Pirates Shade Reds; Houston Mauls Cubs

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Moment of Truth was just another fling for Juan Marichal. It lasted nine innings too long for the Los Angeles Dodgers.

San Francisco's Marichal, confronted by the Dodgers for the first time in regular-season play since his bat-swinging brawl with catcher John Roseboro last fall, tamed them on four scattered hits Tuesday night as the Giants rolled to an 8-1 victory.

Backed by Willie McCovey's three-run homer off Don Drysdale and a four-run seventh-inning salvo, Marichal breezed to his fifth straight complete-game triumph this season and beat the Dodgers for the 11th time in 11 decisions at Candlestick Park.

The victory moved the Giants past Los Angeles into second

Indians' Luis Tiant Registers His Third Shutout in Succession

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Luis Tiant has lost his paunch and now he's robbing American League hitters of their punch.

Tiant's third straight shutout, a 1-0 four-hitter against the New York Yankees Tuesday night, left the Cleveland right-hander with a string of 27 scoreless innings and a perfect 0.00 earned run average.

The Cuban pitcher credits his success to a slender waistline.

Luis had a 10-4 rookie record in only 2½ months when he came up in 1964. Then he fell off to 11-11 last year. Birdie Tebbetts, the Indians' manager, decided excess weight was Tiant's problem.

"Birdie send me a letter after last season," Tiant explained. "He say a fat ball player can no stay long in big leagues because he can't do too many things."

The letter put Luis on a diet.

His third straight shutout was the fifth this season for the Indians' staff and lowered its collective earned run average to a microscopic 1.41.

4 Top Efforts

Tiant's job was one of four top pitching efforts in the American League Tuesday night. Detroit's Mickey Lolich hurled a five-hitter in shutting out Boston 8-0. Phil Ortega and Casey Cox combined to blank Baltimore 3-0 for Washington and Camilo Pascual's four-hitter paced Minnesota to a 4-2 decision over Chicago. California downed Kansas City 6-2 in the other game played.

Tiant got the run he needed on three seventh inning singles, the

Foxes Rip Dubuque, 18-3, Start Home Stand Tonight

DUBUQUE, Ia. — The Midwest League-leading Fox Cities maintained a half-game lead over runnerup Burlington by blitzing Dubuque's Packers here Tuesday night, 18-3.

The victory was the fourth consecutive for the Foxes and the club launches a 4-game home stand at 8 p.m. today at Goodland Field against Cedar Rapids.

Led by Jay Petersen, the Foxes uncorked a devastating 15-run outburst in the first three innings to wrap up the decision and boost their total run production in two games here to 33.

Petersen and Tom Cottrell each drove in a pair of scores in the 6-run first. Petersen singled and Cottrell doubled. Petersen also drove in a pair of runs in the second with a single and singled in another score in the sixth.

Petersen and Al Kristowski led the Foxes' 14-hit assault with three safeties apiece. Bill Melton also contributed to the attack with a 2-run homer in the eighth inning, which sailed over the 390-foot mark in center field.

Dubuque shortstop Juan Joa broke a Midwest League individual record for errors in one game with six. The old record of five was logged in 1950 and again in '53.

The 15-run early inning attack was a result of six errors, eight hits, five walks and a pair of hit batsmen. The Foxes tallied six runs in the third without benefit of one hit.

Tim McLain, brother of Detroit Tiger mound ace Dennis, notched his initial victory of the season, hurling seven-hit ball and going the distance for the Foxes. Of the three runs off McLain, only one was earned.

Versalles Hits 3-Run Homer To Tip Chisox

Ward's Double Accounts for Both Runs Off Pascual

CHICAGO (AP) — Zoilo Versalles drilled a three-run homer in the third inning Tuesday night and that was enough to back up Camilo Pascual's brilliant pitching for a 4-2 Minnesota victory over the Chicago White Sox.

Versalles unloaded after a double by Bernie Allen and a single by Pascual, rubbing out a 2-1 Sox lead on Pete Ward's double that followed singles by Tom Agee and Don Buford.

But after Ward's hit, Pascual — a sore arm victim last year in a 9-3 performance—set down 18 consecutive batters. He finished with a four-hit job, allowing only one hit after the first inning, in pushing his record to 3-1 for the season.

The Sox finish their two-game stand with the Twins tonight, sending John Buzhardt (1-1) against Jim Kaat (1-2). Kaat has a 13-7 career record against the Sox.

They added single markers in the third and fifth and stowed the game away with five in the seventh, three on Mike Milliken's second home run of the spring.

CHICAGO (AP) — Tony Oliva, the Minnesota Twins outfielder and 1964 and 1965 American League batting champion, was named in a paternity suit filed in Circuit Court Tuesday.

Mrs. Margaret Thurmond, 27, Chicago divorcee, charged in the suit that Oliva was the father of her daughter, Melissa, born Feb. 24.

Pro Baseball Runs Into New Headaches

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK (AP) — Professional baseball, already deeply involved in legal troubles at Milwaukee, may be headed for new headaches in its player relations.

The owners, in a joint meeting, refused Tuesday to grant the players' request for $150,000 a year from the pension fund to run their new permanent office. The office is to be headed by Marvin Miller, a steel union official who will get $50,000 a year in the baseball job.

Miller's name was not mentioned by Commissioner William Eckert when he announced that the owners had found it "not feasible to assist the organization with pension fund money."

Asked if the owners objected to Miller, the commissioner said, "The players certainly are at liberty to select anybody they want."

Miller will be the executive director of the Major League Baseball Players' Association, effective July 1 Reached in Pittsburgh after the owners' announcement, Miller said he would not care to comment until he saw something official. "In any case," he said, "I think the comment will have to come from the players."

And there was no comment from the player representatives, but it was announced a statement would be forthcoming, probably today. Some players have said, however, that they would go ahead with the new operation even if they have to pay their own way. To reach $150,000 it would take $300 each from the 500 major leaguers.

Eckert said he would call a meeting of key players and certain baseball executives to discuss the situation further The meeting probably will be held before the July 12 All-Star Game.

The league player representatives are Bob Allison of the Minnesota Twins and John Edwards of the Cincinnati Reds. Allison also serves on the pension committee with Jim Bunning of the Philadelphia Phillies and owners John Galbreath of Pittsburgh and Calvin Griffith of Minnesota.

"Maybe they can think of some way to raise money without taking so much from the pension fund," said Warren Giles, National League president. "The National League's position is to hold further meetings and make further study. Let's see whether $150,000 is needed."

Montreal Rips Red Wings, 5-1

Takes 3 to 2 Lead In 'Cup' Finals; Crozier Hobbled

MONTREAL (AP) — It will take more than even a 100 per cent healthy Roger Crozier to save the Detroit Red Wings now.

Crozier, a doubtful starter after suffering a knee and ankle injury on his left leg Sunday, went back into the nets Tuesday night.

But even the appearance of the gutty goalie failed to perk up the listless Red Wings who offered little resistance as Montreal charged to a comfortable early lead and coasted to a 5-1 victory and took a 3-2 edge in the best-of-seven Stanley Cup finals

Claude Provost scored with the game just 66 seconds old and Yvan Cournoyer added one on the power play — his specialty — in the final minute of the first period and the Red Wings never came close

Montreal so dominated play in the first two periods that it sent 28 shots on the Detroit net. The Red Wings managed but 13 in the same span.

Crozier said his heavily-taped left leg felt shorter than the right and that he was off-balance for the early part of the game

Kimberly Net Squad Downs Lourdes, 7-2

Marshfield Columbus Ace, Koch, May Enroll at Wisconsin

MARSHFIELD (AP)— Bobby Koch of Marshfield Columbus, a swift halfback high on the list of Midwestern college prospects, says there is a chance he'll attend Wisconsin after all.

Earlier Koch, all-state in football and second team all-state in basketball, said that he'd closed the door on Wisconsin and that no one at Madison seemed interested in him.

But, Koch said today, Wisconsin is now one of four schools he is considering Kansas, Colorado and South Dakota State are the others

"Wisconsin is an equal possibility with the other," said the 6-foot-1, 205 pound back, who ran the 100 in 9.9 Tuesday afternoon in a high school dual meet.

Wisconsin Coach Milt Bruhn visited Marshfield recently and spoke to school officials and Bobby's parents Bruhn said he did not see Bobby, but invited the prospect to visit Madison as soon as possible.

"He's a fine football player," Bruhn said.

Bobby's brother, Chuck, was a member of the Badger varsity last season, but was held out of spring training this year because of a knee ailment.

Bob Elliott Seriously Ill

Former Baseball Star Suffers From Internal Bleeding

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP — Bob Elliott, the National League's Most Valuable Player in 1947, was seriously ill Tuesday from internal bleeding.

Elliott, 49, entered Mercy Hospital Monday afternoon and has received several transfusions. Doctors said the bleeding was caused by a ruptured vein in the lower windpipe.

His condition was described as somewhat improved today.

The former star third baseman began his major league career with the Pittsburgh Pirates in 1938 and went to the Boston Braves in 1946.

He batted .317 and drove in 113 runs for the Braves in winning the Most Valuable Player Award.

His last major league season was with the Chicago White Sox of the American League. He piloted the Kansas City Athletics in 1960 and was a coach with the Los Angeles Angels in 1961. He managed the San Diego Padres of the Pacific Coast League from 1955 through 1957.

last by his catcher, Joe Azcue. Luis got a ninth inning scare when, with two on and two out, Joe Pepitone lined a ball that just curved foul as it reached the right field stands.

Lolich, who struck out nine, was locked in a scoreless duel for five innings with Boston's Jose Santiago. But the Tigers exploded for six runs in the sixth and Lolich breezed after that.

Norm Cash hammered three hits, including a two-run homer, for Detroit.

Baltimore's 10-game winning streak came to an end with Ortega and Cox combining for a five-hitter. Ortega worked the first seven innings before leaving with a pulled muscle in his right shoulder and Cox finished up.

Frank Howard whacked a two-run homer for the Senators.

Bob Rodgers' three-run double helped California build an early lead against the Athletics. The Angels made the most of seven walks and eight hits off Jim (Catfish) Hunter and two relievers handicap for a 265 and also went into 10th place with a 863.

Kegler, 16, Leads

Class B saw another Oshkosh bowler take the spotlight as 16-year-old Mike Driessen, son of Clarence Driessen, proprietor of the T and O Lanes, rapped a 901 count to take the lead from Tony Staniak, Menasha.

Mike, a junior at Oshkosh High School, was competing in the Bowl-O-Rama for the first time and rapped a 773 scratch to go with 128 pins of handicap. His high game was a 210 and he said it was one of his "best nights." When asked about the Bowl-O-Rama Mike answered: "I love it, I'd like to bowl again."

Paul Neubauer, of Appleton, rolled into third place in Class B with a 871 total. Neubauer has competed in every Bowl-O-Rama to date and last year fired a scratch game of 277 for one of the best counts of the classic.

Fourth Place

Bob Steger, Appleton, took over fourth place in the B division with his big line being a 253 game to go with 27 pins handicap for a booming 280 and he took home a transitor radio as shift prize on the opening shift last night. Ron Rothenbach, Oshkosh, moved to sixth place with a 837 total.

In the women's division, Marie Schmitz, Oshkosh, grabbed the Class A lead with a 778 scratch score on games of 200, 173, 193 and 212. She carried a handicap of only three pins per game. Another Oshkosh woman, Bea Schiavone moved to second, one pin behind the leader, with a 789 total and her high game was a 211.

Several other changes were noted in Class A as Shirley Seehawer, Appleton, took over fifth with a 769 and Marion Larson, Neenah, placed sixth with 763. Jan Natrop, Appleton, took eighth place with 747; Betty Busha, Appleton, took ninth with 745 and Rosalie Schuettpelz, Appleton, placed 10th with 732.

Retains Lead

Betty Kolosso, Appleton, retained the Class B lead and Una Snyder, Appleton, rolled into third with 772. Other division changes saw Julie Landgraf, Appleton, place fourth with 742; Margaret Kronschnabel, Appleton, grabbed fifth with 740 and Dorothy Vander Heiden, Appleton, tied for 10th with 723.

Women's prize winner on the first shift was Jo Grabe, Oshkosh, with a booming scratch game of 244 and eight pins handicap for a 252, highest score rolled by a woman in the tourney.

Kerr, Blanchi Slated to be Bench Coaches

Sign 3-Year Pacts; Will Play Only If Need Arises

CHICAGO (AP) — New head Coach John (Red) Kerr and his assistant coach and long-time friend, Al Bianchi, came to the Chicago Bulls in a sort of squeeze play in the National Basketball Association.

Kerr and Bianchi, signed to three-year contracts Tuesday, were among 18 players culled by the new Chicago NBA entry in a draft from the league's nine established clubs in New York last weekend.

But Kerr and Bianchi, who spent most of their long pro careers as roommates with the old Sryacuse Nats — now the Philadelphia 76er — will be strictly bench coaches for the Bulls.

So said Bull General Manager Dick Klein, who explained that the only way he could get them as coaches was to draft them as players — Kerr from the Baltimore Bullets and Bianchi from the 76ers.

Get Permission

"We got permission from Baltimore to talk to Kerr as a head coach prospect a month ago, but even if Kerr and Bianchi had retired as players they could not take a job in any capacity with another NBA club without permission of their original club owner," Klein said. "We wanted both very much as coaches, and we didn't want to gamble for their services in later dickering after the stocking draft."

Did the maneuver cost the Bulls two ready-made players, since they actually got 16 instead of the allowable 18 under the stocking plan permitting them two from each established NBA club?

"Not necessarily, because if the need arises, Kerr and Bianchi could be playing coaches," Klein said. "At the start, however, we want them to concentrate on their work from the bench."

Kerr, 34, played as a pro forward 12 seasons since starring for the University of Illinois. Bianichi, 33, was a 10-season guard in the NBA.

place in the National League race.

Marichal, fined $1,750 and suspended for 11 days after clubbing Roseboro with a bat last Aug 22 passed the initial test without incident.

Roseboro, who has a lawsuit pending against the Giants' ace, got one of the Dodger hits He had hit an inside-the-park home run against Marichal in an exhibition game this spring

Roseboro and Marichal had nothing to say to each other during the game

Elsewhere, first place Pittsburgh shaded Cincinnati 5-4 in 12 innings on Donn Clendenon's second two-run homer of the game. Atlanta edged Philadelphia 9-8 in 10 innings St Louis trimmed New York 5-2 and Houston mauled Chicago 10-2.

Clendenon s second homer off Cincinnati's Sammy Ellis, a two-out shot over the center field fence, lifted the Pirates past the Reds in the 12th and enabled them to stay one-half game up on San Francisco The winning blow, following a single by Jim Pagliaroni, snapped a 3-3 tie. The Reds countered with a run in the bottom of the inning off winner ElRoy Face

The Pirates took a 3-2 lead in the eighth on Clendenon's first two-run blast but Cincinnati tied it in its half on a run-scoring single by Mel Queen.

Felipe Alou, whose three-base error on a fly ball helped Philadelphia to three runs and an 8-6 lead in the eighth, singled home the winning run with two out in the 10th. Woody Woodward beat out a bunt and was sacrificed to second before Alou came through.

Gary Geiger, who had homered earlier, sent the game into extra innings with a two-run triple in the Braves' eighth, tying it 8-8.

Reliever Al Jackson, a former Met, set down all 12 batters he faced to nail the Cardinals' victory over New York. St. Louis jumped in front to stay with three runs in the fourth — two on Lou Brock's double — but the Mets knocked out Ray Washburn with two runs in the fifth.

Jakson then slammed the door while the Cards wrapped it up with three more runs in their half of the fifth.

The Astros won their third straight as Lee Maye pounded his third homer in three games. Joe Morgan drove in three runs with a homer and single and the Cubs contributed five unearned runs by committing four errors

A COMMON QUESTION REGARDING THE START OF THE DOWNSWING IS, "SHOULD THE FIRST MOVEMENT OF THE HIPS BE LATERAL, ROTATING OR A COMBINATION?"

AS PICTURED, THE FIRST MOVE (A) IS LATERAL FOLLOWED BY A ROTATION (B) AS THE BODY SHIFT CONTINUES. YOU CANNOT, HOWEVER, CONSIDER THESE AS INDIVIDUAL ACTIONS...

...ACTIONS MUST BLEND, SO THAT THE SWING WILL FLOW. AFTER THE HIPS START TO ROTATE, THE LATERAL SHIFT DOES NOT CEASE, BUT CONTINUES IN UNISON UNTIL THE FINISH WHERE THE WEIGHT IS ON THE LEFT FOOT AND HIPS FACE THE TARGET.

Helms Sits Out Game Because Of Damage Suit

CINCINNATI (AP) — Tommy Helms, Cincinnati Reds rookie second baseman, was missing from the line-up Tuesday night apparently because of a damage suit filed against him.

"Tommy is upset over a thing that happened yesterday (Monday)," said Manager Don Heffner before the Reds-Pittsburgh Pirates game.

"He wanted to play, but I decided to give him a rest."

Helms was named in a $50,435 suit filed Monday by Frederick R. Stubbins of Honolulu, a former account executive with a radio station in San Diego, Calif.

Stubbins claimed Helms has paid only $1,022 of a $51,476 judgment Stubbins was awarded last year in a San Diego court.

Records show the judgment was granted because of "pain and discomfort and permanent body damage" Stubbins suffered when struck in the face by Helms, who was playing for the San Diego Padres at the time.

Rich Allen's Shoulder Better

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The condition of Rich Allen, slugging Philadelphia Phillies infielder, was reported improved Monday, but a club spokesman said Allen may be sidelined at least another week or so

Allen, the Phils' third baseman, severely bruised his right shoulder in a slide in a game against Chicago Friday.

A team doctor examined Allen and said it is quite probable his return will be in less than two weeks.

AFL Kicker Pete Gogolak Now Free Agent

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Pete Gogolak, the Buffalo Bills place-kicking specialist, is free to sign with any professional football team but he said Monday he hasn't been contacted by any other club.

The soccer-style kicker said he is still undecided about his pro future. Gogolak became a free agent after playing out his option last season with the American Football League champions.

He and the Bills' management cannot agree on salary. Gogolak reportedly is asking for a five-figure bonus to sign again.

Ralph C. Wilson, Bills' owner, said Gogolak can carry on his negotiations with Joel Collier, the Bills head coach.

The New Movie "Made in Paris" currently showing at both the Viking Theater in Appleton and the Time in Oshkosh is a glamorous style show as well as a screen story with a plot. Ann-Margret, center, stars in the movie with a supposedly $100,000 wardrobe especially designed for her by fashion couturiere Helen Rose. Two of the many professional models in the movie are shown in Helen Rose outfits on either side of the actress.

Bell System's Program

Teacher-Student Tour Telephone Laboratory

A teacher and student from Fox Valley Lutheran High School have returned from a visit to one of the nation's top research centers—the Bell Telephone Laboratories at Murray Hill, N. J.

Gerald Mallmann, 621 S. Story, and Darwin Tiede, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arlin Tiede, 2723 W. Lawrence, visited the Bell laboratories as guests of the Wisconsin Telephone Co. The visit was part of the Bell System's high school science teacher-student visit program, which brings together outstanding science teachers and students from throughout the country.

Mallmann, a member of the FVL faculty for the past 11 years, was particularly impressed by the caliber of Bell laboratory personnel.

Well Informed

"The scientists and engineers are extremely well-informed in many areas," he said. "They can talk with as much ease about the humanities as they do when discussing their own research assignments."

A young man or woman preparing for a career in science needs a firm educational background, Mallmann noted, adding that "Our visits with Bell personnel pointed up the fact that a person who seeks a research career today needs at least a master's degree."

Tiede, a FVL junior, was equally enthusiastic about his visit.

"It was fabulous," he commented. "I chose to tour the center with a group which expressed special interest in electronics. I was impressed with the research being done on transistors." The transistor was invented at the Bell Laboratories.

Very Friendly

Tiede said he had no difficulty getting answers to scientific questions he directed at the researchers. "They were very friendly and didn't 'talk down' to any of us," he remarked.

Tiede serves on the FVL Student Council. Active in sports, he is a member of the school's basketball and track teams. He hopes to enroll at the University of Wisconsin, although he hasn't decided upon a major.

Richard C. Van Sistine, local manager for the telephone company, said the program in which Mallmann and Tiede participated, is designed to give students and teachers an understanding of what scientists and engineers do in a large research and development organization and to encourage students to continue their studies in engineering and science by showing them the challenges offered in these fields.

The Murray Hill site, which employs some 4,500 persons, is the largest of the Bell labs' four locations. Its projects have included the Telstar communications satellite. The solar battery as well as the transistor, were invented at Murray Hill.

Horsemanship Learned in Parks Pays Off for Actor Alain Delon

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — What happens when the new wave meets the old West?

Alain Delon, star of French films, may not have conquered the frontier, but he won the admiration of his coworkers on "Texas Across the River." He put on some of the most impressive athletic feats in films since Douglas Fairbanks hung up his buskin.

During the Universal Western the handsome Frenchman:

Leaped onto a rock and then to his horse; jumped out of a covered wagon onto a horse; rode a long-horn bull out of a river and onto the bank; performed a slashing sword fight, with a blade passing an inch from his face; faced a charging mass of Texas longhorns; managed a number of running mounts, falls and leaps.

"Some of the set workers wanted to know if we had horses in France," the actor reported.

Delon, who did his basic training in Paris's Bois de Boulogne as well as New York's Central Park, admitted that he never expected his horsemanship to pay off in a Hollywood horse opera.

Western Fan

"I had been a fan of westerns since I was a boy in France. Gary Cooper was my favorite," he said.

"In those days, I had no thought of being an actor. Even after I became an actor, I never thought I would be cast in a Western because I am French."

A little thing like that didn't stop Hollywood. Addition of an international star of Delon's caliber would assist the chances of "Texas Across the River" in the Europe market. Also in the cast: Dean Martin, Rosemary Forstythe, Joey Bishop, Tina Marquand.

Delon still meets resistance from Hollywood film makers because of his accent. That puzzles him.

"I can't understand it," he mused. "Charles Boyer has a much more pronounced accent than I have. Yet producers don't hesitate to cast him as an American. Why should I be discriminated against?"

The Penguin Is Batman's Foe Tonight

BY TV SCOUT

6:30-7 (Channels 11-6-9) — Batman once more has to contend with Burgess Meredith as the Penguin, "that waddling pirate of plunder." Bruce Wayne's trusty butler, Alfred, while shopping for caviar, is kidnapped and brainwashed by the Penguin and his "fine finney friends" so they can discover where the millionaire club holds its secret meetings. It's a Zok! Zowie! Zap! episode, which will probably amuse only the smallest of tykes who aren't already bored with the tricks of the Penguin's billowing umbrellas, which this time are used to lure the Dynamic Duo into a vacuum tank. (Color)

6:30-8 (Channel 5) — The Virginian recounts, via flashback, how its hero (James Drury) and Judge Garth (Lee J. Cobb) originally got together. Because of the familiarity with these characters, the story may hold your interest. (R-Color)

7:30-8 (Channels 11-9) — Blue Light strikes out with "The Key to the Code," which has David March (Robert Goulet) in the foolish position of trying to fool the Germans with his propaganda radio broadcasts. In order to slip the Allies some information, March uses a code which utilizes American baseball scores. (Color)

8-8:30 (Channels 2-12) — Green Acres finally gets around to an episode it scheduled earlier which was pre-empted. Focus is on Tom Lester, who plays, Eb, the Douglases' lanky-brained farmhand. In an almost sudden burst of inspiraion, the chap begins showing signs of talent as a veterinarian. (Color)

8-9 (Channels 11-6-9) — The Big Valley centers its interest on pretty Linda Evans who takes up with a young marauder, played by Sean Garrison. Her crush causes great embarrassment to the Barkley clan, who believe in law and order, providing it doesn't get in the way. (R-Color)

8-9 (Channels 4-5) — "The Faceless Man" is a slow-moving, yet curiously interesting mystery drama for Bob Hope Presents. (Color)

8:30-9 (Channels 2-7-12) — "Love Thy Other Neighbor" on The Dick Van Dyke Show is another "must see" episode for series fans. Ann Morgan Guilbert once more shines, whining outrageously in her role as Millie. Jerry Paris, as her husband, also adds to the fun in this tale of petty jealousies in suburbia.

9-10 (Channels 4-5) — I Spy once more is in old Hong Kong with "A Cup of Kindness." It's a particularly brutal episode for the usually soft sell mystery series. Agents Robinson and Scott have orders to kill one of their own men — a chap who has turned traitor. (R-Color)

Campaigning Congressmen Spend Much Time in State

BY JOHN WYNGAARD
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

WASHINGTON — The constituent who comes to Washington to see his congressman or senators is likely to find them unavailable — except in mid-week during a campaign year.

Airline schedules have revolutionized campaign calendars. Most congressmen fly home for brief campaign appearances with a casualness that would have startled their predecessors a few decades ago.

This reporter spent most of last week on Capitol Hill calling on Wisconsin representatives. He discovered that more than half of them had just returned from flying visits to their districts or were preparing to do so. Sen. Gaylord Nelson took two trips home during the week. Rep. John Race, (6th) of Fond du Lac, flies home nearly every weekend. Most of the other members of the delegation grab the opportunities to return to the state — at considerable cost to themselves, or their campaign committees.

The airplane has also made the capital more accessible to constituents. Congressmen report more visitors now than ever before. This adds to their chores and the work loads of their staffs. Visitors want appointments, instructions on tours, interviews on current legislation, sometimes a luncheon invitation. Combined with the ever increasing thrust of government action into private lives, the congressman's life has become more demanding than ever before.

The stately embassies of Massachusetts Avenue and among the most attractive sights in the national capital for visitors.

I wonder whether others who casually wander down this famous street unconsciously search for that ambassadorial residence representing the nation of their ancestral origin?

The embassies of the little countries, often resplendent cluster among the larger and more plush diplomatic residences of the big nations. I am always interested to discover that the embassy of the Netherlands remains quartered in a modest building on an obscure street. The big avenue has embassies representing such small or newly emerging nations as Luxemburg, Korea, the little republics of Central America and Chad and Madagascar.

Mrs. Analovce Clapp, one-time classmate in the University of Wisconsin School of Journalism, has returned to journalistic chores here in spare time. She is the wife of Norman Clapp, the Wisconsin-reared head of the Rural Electrification Administration.

For the Wisconsin visitor the declaration of the new Federal Water Pollution Control Administration about the proposed costs of a serious water pollution elimination program has a startling impact.

The agency has asserted that a public investment of at least $2 billion will be needed to make the water of the Potomac River here clean enough for swimming.

The estimate will echo loudly in the ears of Wisconsin residents as they ponder the proposals of their politicians who are urging massive pollution cleanup efforts in some of the key waters of the state, such as the Fox River and Green Bay.

Would such enormous costs be worthwhile? Commissioner James M. Quigley avoided a direct answer at his news conference. That is for the Congress and the people living in the river basins to decide, he said. But he thinks that the giant Potomac River undertaking would be worthwhile as a model for the nation and the world.

The periodical newsletter on public affairs with a Wisconsin slant that has been produced for several years for Wisconsin businessmen by Richard McDonald and Charles Davis, Milwaukee publicists, will be suspended about mid-year, according to reports in Wisconsin circles here.

A newcomer to the Wisconsin congressional delegation staff is George Berdes, a politician with an academic turn of mind who has become administrative assistant and office manager for Rep. Clement Zablocki of Milwaukee. Berdes worked as a reporter for The Post-Crescent several years ago, then enrolled for graduate studies at Marquette University and joined its faculty.

A friend of Robert Fleming, the new deputy press officer at the White House, was being shown around the beautiful building and remarked on the skills of the White House chief gardener as shown in the flowering shrubs and other plants.

"Yes, and he comes to work at 9 a.m. and leaves at 5 p.m." Fleming replied. The former Wisconsin reporter says that his work day stretches into so many hours that the only meal he eats at home with his family is early breakfast.

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Claude Lightfoot Charged With Violating Code

CHICAGO (AP) — Claude Lightfoot, leader of the Communist party in Illinois, says charges of building code violations in a slum apartment building supposedly owned by him are "politically motivated."

Lightfoot has been ordered to appear Friday at a hearing in connection with 11 building code violations found by inspectors in the Chicago slum building reportedly owned by Lightfoot.

The Communist leader said he will call a news conference in Chicago Wednesday to discuss the complaints.

List Objects With Letter 'C' And Win Set of 12 Books

BY CAPPY DICK

How many things in the picture can you find that have names starting with "C"?

List each such object. Clip out the picture and paste it on a sheet of paper or a postal card. Beneath it print your name, age, address and the name of your school. Also print the list of the "C" objects you found. Then address your contest entry to Cappy Dick's Midweek Contest at the Post-Crescent and mail it before midnight of Friday, May 6.

For doing this, you have a chance to win a national grand prize in today's contest. This prize will be a set of 12 Encyclopedia Britannica "True-to-Life Books." These colorfully-illustrated books tell fascinating stories of the world of nature and of children. Examples are "Life in the Forest," "Birds in Summer," "The Ugly Duckling" and "Pablo, Boy of Mexico." There are eight other equally interesting books.

Five sets will be awarded as national grand prizes. For a contestant to have a set, his entry must first win a local qualifying prize. There will be 5 preliminary winners in the Appleton area as well as in every other city where this column is published. Each of the winners will receive as his qualifying prize a novel Squeeze Purses with key chain attached. This purse has no lock, but nevertheless remains closed until you squeeze it to remove any coins you have placed in it. When you release the pressure, the purse automatically closes. Entries that win the Squeeze Purses will be entered automatically in the judging for the five sets of "True-to-Life Books."

List the "C" objects

Originality and neatness as well as accuracy will count in the selection of winning entries. Decorate your entry in any neat, original way, using paints, crayons, cutouts or other means.

Names of the prize winners will be published here, along with the names of their schools, and their prizes will be sent to their homes by mail. Judges' decisions will be final. All entries become Cappy Dick's property; none can be returned.

Lesson in English

BY W. L. GORDON

Words often misused: Distinguish between contemptible (worthy of contempt or scorn) and contemptuous (feeling contempt or scorn). Thus: "That was a contemptible act on his part," and, "A brave man is often contemptuous of danger."

Often mispronounced: Leicester (the English city). Pronounce as though spelled "Lester."

Often misspelled: "Mesdames" is the correct plural of "Madame."

Synonyms: Award (verb), assign, apportion, attribute, accord, grant, distribute, divide, allot, give, determine, decree, order, adjudge.

Word study: "Use a word three times and it is yours." Let us increase our vocabulary by mastering one word each day. Today's word, nugatory, worthless, useless. (Pronounce nyu-ga-toe-ri, accent first syllable). "Advice can become nugatory when given too freely."

Charges by Critics Bring Countercharges

Record Profits Give Ammunition to Those Critical of Business

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Record profits are supplying ammunition to the critics of business policies. But business, resenting this criticism of its price and wage stands, has countercharges of its own.

Labor is using this year's big jump in corporate earnings as an argument for a greater share for the workers.

Government spokesmen are using the net income climb as a talking point in their drive to halt price increases — and also as a basis for threatening tax increases on corporate income to cool down the booming economy.

On only one thing do all sides agree: corporate profits have risen to the greatest dollar volume in history and the rise so far this year has been at a rate that few formerly thought could be attained.

Say Profits Must Rise

Industry's answer is that if the dollar volume of profits is tremendous, so is everything else: production, sales, payrolls, materials costs, tax payments at all levels of government.

Some industries insist that their profits must rise still more if they are to finance the growth and modernization that today's high-stepping economy demands.

And to this some company chiefs are adding that prices must go up still more if they are to keep step with rising costs — and with the need for more profit dollars to finance growth.

Business spokesmen also deny government officials' charges that business expansion plans and price and profit policies offer the biggest threat of a ruinous inflation ahead.

Industry spokesmen insist that an equally big threat is the rapid rise in government spending. They call upon Washington to do more than propose token gestures of holding down its outlays. In this business-held view, the efforts to get business to cut down on spending for growth just now should be matched by a like restraint at the government level.

Earnings Higher

But the profit figures themselves can't be denied. With few exceptions, corporations are reporting their first quarter earnings well ahead of a year ago. The first 500 to report show total profits after taxes of $4.5 billion this year, against $4 billion in the first three months of 1965.

Gardner Ackley, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, says this gain "substantially exceeds the rise in national income or the rise in employe compensation over that period."

Labor leaders will use this. They also will note that Ackley added that over the last year price increases have offset higher pay rates and longer working hours, so that the purchasing power of factory workers now isn't any greater than a year ago.

Management negotiators know they will have the record profit figures to contend with when they try to hold down demands for increased wages that labor is sure to make.

Business also knows that the profit reports won't sit well with consumers when they are asked to pay higher prices.

And, while the federal tax collector now takes around 48 per cent of the record gross earnings of corporations, the profit gains themselves will be a tempting talking point if Congress gets around to debating a stiffer tax, either to pay for a more costly war in Viet Nam or to ward off the inflation that a sizzling domestic economy might threaten.

Speaks at Bergstrom Art Center

Ignoring of Environment in Design Of Structures Attacked by Architect

NEENAH — "Architecture has been too long concerned for the building. It must be concerned for the environment — and the use of spaces between is critical."

In these words Walter A. Netsch Jr., general partner of the Chicago architectural firm of Skidmore, Owings & Merrill, Tuesday night summarized the philosophy he and his associates brought to development of a master plan for the new urban campus of the University of Illinois at Chicago.

Speaking at the annual membership meeting of the Friends of the Bergstrom Art Center, Netsch traced the evolution of the Chicago Circle campus, with a projected capacity of 20,000 students by 1967, from publication of initial studies in 1960, to the present.

Netsch was introduced by Charles M. Brooks Jr., executive director of the Bergstrom Art Center, 165 N. Park Ave. The meeting was conducted at the art center by Roger A. Baird, route 1, Menasha, retiring vice president of the Friends.

Complicated Problem

"Designing a university is a very complicated problem which involves . . trying to find out what are the environmental issues in the 20th century," Netsch declared.

Twenty to 30 years ago, students went to college "as an extension of the world where they had been and were going," he noted. "Now we're talking about a new opportunity for every man to attend college or university as part of the experience of the university environment."

The creation of an urban campus is an entirely different matter from the gradual development of an established college or university.

"First, it must grow overnight. It can't have the quiet aging of Harvard or Yale, or the wonderful intensity of growth of Lawrence or Grinnell in a small town."

The sheer size of an urban campus, and the population it is designed to accommodate, is difficult to grasp, he added.

"Oshkosh, for instance, has a school that is or will be 15,000 — a population about equal to that of Neenah . . . We're talking about an environment of people 17 to 23, all eagerly trying to find for themselves their life goals."

Many of the prospective students for the Chicago Circle campus, intended essentially as a commuter school, come from homes "where an educational tradition has not been part of the environment. In some matriarchal urban societies, the book is a switchblade, a divider, to alienate him (the student) from the society of which he has been a part."

A critical factor in designing a campus for a slum area is determining the role the university will play in the area, and in its students' lives, he continued. The Circle campus is located on urban renewal land adjacent to the first public housing in the Chicago area.

"This part of Chicago was a gateway for people coming, first from northern, and then from southern Europe . . . In an urban society, this is an urban campus which is predominatly a horizontal environment."

Proper Utilization

The determination, then was to place the area of greatest intensity of use at the center of the campus, with its lecture rooms, classrooms and garden space. The design would call for the use of as simple materials as possible, and as few as possible.

"We tried," he said, "to establish the pattern out of the need."

Emerging from these deliberations was a campus geared to the urban environment.

Among its facilities are a library designed for one million volumes and 6,000 readers; a lecture center, consisting of four rooms, with an ultimate capacity of 3,400 students; an art-and-architecture center utilizing the lattice and double - helix design, and a 28-story staff tower whose poured-in-place concrete cage shares the load of the structure with the monolithic walls of the central service core.

In addition to the Chicago Circle campus, Netsch has been responsible for such design projects as the U.S. Naval postgraduate school at Monterrey; the master plan of the new lakefront campus and individual buildings at Northwestern University in Evanston, Ill.; master planning and individual buildings for the U.S. Air Force Adademy in Colorado Springs, and the Burling Library, Fine Arts Center and Student Forum at Grinnell College, Grinnell, Iowa.

Rep. Race to Poll Opinions of Voters

WASHINGTON — Rep. John A. Race today announced he will send each household in the sixth district a letter requesting their views on issues of national importance. This is his second annual constituent questionnaire.

"Last year thousands of voters took the time to answer my plea for their views," Race said.

"In light of that large and gratifying response," continued Race, "I have decided to again poll my constituents for their opinions."

He said he hoped the constituents would take time to express their views on current legislation.

Fox Valley Stock Car Club To Present Weekend Exhibit

Approximately 25 stock cars will be on display at Valley Fair in the enclosed mall from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. Friday and Saturday in a special showing for the first time by members of the Fox Valley Stock Car Club, according to Orville Curey, president. The vintage of the cars will range from 19 32 to 1960.

With a membership of 250, participants will come with their cars from the Fox Cities, Omro, Fond du Lac, Sister Bay, New London, Clintonville, Two Rivers and Manitowoc.

A special car to be shown is a 1964 Mercury that has been driven in competition by racer Parnelli Jones, now owned by Robert Schultz of Appleton.

Visitors to the free show will be asked to vote for their choice of the best looking car, with trophies, donated by the Appleton Trophy Shop, going to the three cars receiving the most votes. Balloting participants will have a chance to win prizes such as clock radios and transistor radios contributed by the club.

Rides and a Spring Festival will be going on through Sunday. Ride discount tickets are being given away by most Valley Fair stores.

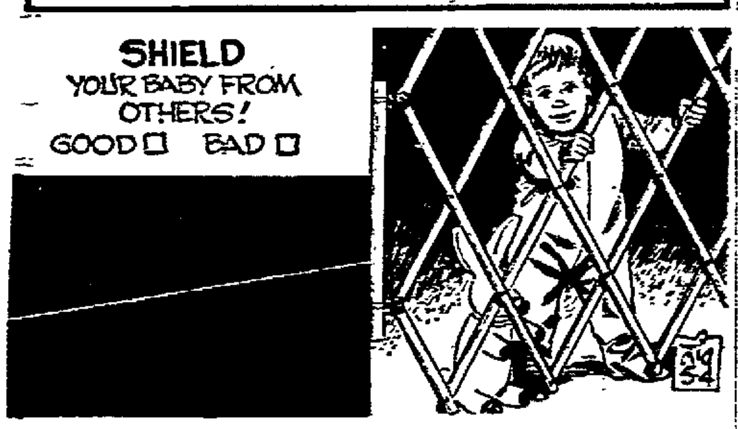
Let's EXPLORE YOUR MIND

By Sylvanus M. Duvall, Ph.D. and Evelyn M. Duvall, Ph.D.



Studies concur that babies thrive under stimulation of many kinds from many persons. Dr. Margaret Mead says, "We cannot start too early helping our children to feel at home with many different people — people who differ in physique and ways of doing things, some who are bossy and others who are casual, some who are temperamental and others who are even-tempered and serene." Normal safeguards against infection need not keep your baby in isolation. Contact with other people is good for him.

Do girls try to live up to their teachers' expectations?

Yes —— No ——

Yes. The study, "The Adolescent Society," found that girls especially are motivated to conform to what their parents and teachers expect of them. And an analysis of the childhood of 1,400 great men and women repeatedly showed the overwhelming importance of an outstanding teacher in motivating and inspiring them to greatness. It may be that too many girls are discouraged by not having enough expected of them by their teachers.

A man knows a real woman when he sees one!

True —— False——

True. Robert Graves, one of the century's major poets, defines a real woman as one who neither despises nor worships men, but is happy to have been born a woman, and does everything she can to think and act as the person she truly is. So, she knows the full extent of her powers, and freely rejects all arbitrary man-made expectations that are contrary to her real nature. In simple words, she becomes herself and likes it that way.

Budgeting Isn't Easy for Woman Who Lives Alone

BY MARY FEELEY
Consultant in Money Management

Dear Miss Feeley:

You are sadly neglecting some of your women readers. There are many, many of them on their own, trying to make ends meet.

I work in an office, earn $72.81 take-home pay a week, and would like to know how other women in my category do it.

K.N., New York City

Dear K.N.:

They do it the hard way, in a high-cost area such as yours, where living expenses never give you a breathing spell. It takes self-discipline — and I didn't just read this in a book.

Now, before I get down to facts and figures on your own budget, let me say this: If I seem to talk more often in this column to parents with a houseful of children, it's because their problems get bigger ever day. Little feet outgrow shoes, there are bigger appetites for growing bodies, and bigger education expenses. What, alas, doesn't always get bigger is the family take-home pay.

But I'm well aware that for a woman on her own, $72.81 is no fortune. The budget item that can make or break you is your rent. One thing you can do, though, if you're responsible only for yourself, is to decide what's most important to you — privacy in the form of an apartment — even the tiniest walk-up — or board and room in someone else's home.

On the theory that one week's take-home pay is all the rent you should logically pay, you don't have an easy choice. This basic rule-of-thumb is supposed to put all other expenses in proportion, on a certain standard of living. But here's your advantage, K.N.: If you value a good address, living quarters in which you can entertain, you can pay more than the average budget figure allows — and eat a dill pickle for lunch in order to make up for it. You don't have to apologize to anybody else for what you do.

Clothes are usually an extra special item for the career woman — and rightly so, I happen to think. But here again you're going to have to cut drastically in some other budget area in order to have them. Or use up some shoe leather finding the shops where you can buy cheaply and still get some fashion importance. There's at least one in every neighborhood, even in the big city. As for food — cook in when you aren't invited out.

I know you're concerned with savings, and some sort of financial security. Well, let's take two major items first — Rent and Savings — and see what you might do with the rest of that $72.81 a week:

Rent, $20; Savings, $5.

Now those two items would normally allow for the following:

Lunches, $5; public transportation, $1.50; medical costs, $5; food at home for 7 days, $14; miscellaneous items, contributions and gifts, $5; $17.31 to divide between clothes and upkeep, grooming aids and recreation. Here again: what's most important?

You don't state what benefits your company provides, if any. But these days most companies do provide something in the way of group benefits.

Viet Cong Posts Rewards

Special Squad Wins Over Villagers

By EDDIE ADAMS

THUY LUONG, South Viet Nam (AP) — The Viet Cong have placed a price tag on their heads.

The villagers have grown to love them.

There are 10 of them, all volunteers. They are nine U.S. Marines and a Navy corpsman.

They form one of seven Marine combined action squads operating in South Viet Nam.

Their mission is to train 15 local village militiamen to fight, and to help protect the villages from the Viet Cong. This is part of the Marine pacification program, in three Marine enclaves — Da Nang, Chu Lai and Hue Phu Bai.

Combined Action Squad 1 is located in this hamlet of 4,832 persons 430 miles north of Saigon. It is just outside of Hue Phu Bai.

Constant Patrol

The 10 live dangerously. Five-man patrols are conducted around the clock. Their area of responsibility is 35 square miles bordering a river 45 miles south of Communist North Viet Nam's border. The other side of the river is Viet Cong controlled.

The marines' home is a Z-shaped bamboo-thatched hut located near the edge of the village. They have no electricity. Briefings at night are by candlelight. Their only defense — outside of their rifles — are hundreds of sharply pointed bamboo stakes six feet high that form a perimeter around the camp.

The Viet Cong have placed a price tag of 10,000 piasters — about $135 — on each Marine's head — dead or alive. But the villagers have been won over by the Marines.

One of the prettiest girls in the hamlet who had the longest and most beautiful black hair was seen recently with her hair cut short. When Pfc. Hunter Moore of Alexandria, Va., who acts as an interpreter, asked the girl why she had her hair cut, she replied: "Now I look like Jackie Kennedy."

Village Warning

As Sgt. Thomas Cleary, 23, of Los Angeles, commander of the squad, put it: "If any Viet Cong were within 1,000 yards of the village, we would have many of the villagers at our gate yelling, 'VC! VC!' "

Recently, when the Marines were on patrol, the Viet Cong moved in and attacked the village headquarters. The patrol heard the shooting and returned in time to beat off the attackers.

But still, the men have one big complaint: "There just isn't enough action.

There may be soon, though. The rice harvest is due next month. The Viet Cong are hungry and need to replenish their rice. They will have to come down from the hills into the rich valleys to get it.

Since the seven squads began operating last September, they have hit the Viet Cong where it hurts—in the stomach and in the wallet.

Stopped Taxation

Before the Marines moved in, many villagers were paying taxes to the Viet Cong as well as helping them gather the rice crop. The Marines put a stop to that.

Capt John Mullen, 30, of Philadelphia, Pa., commanding officer of the squads, said his units have gathered a great deal of intelligence from villagers.

The Marines also have grown to admire the villagers.

Cpl Loren C. Wright, 19, of Des Moines, Iowa, an expert in knocking off Viet Cong snipers with a sniperscope, said he had had tours in Okinawa, the Philippines and Japan but "I just never got to like Orientals."

But now, says Wright, his attitude has changed since "I'm getting to learn the language and have just found out that the people here are exactly like us, except they don't have as much as we do."

Extended Tour

Moore and Pfc. Peretania Peai, a Samoan radio operator from Honolulu, recently extended their tours in Viet Nam in order to stay in the hamlet.

Nearly every man in Cleary's squad speaks some Vietnamese. They picked it up through textbooks, and simply by being around the militiamen.

Many of the militiamen, known as Popular Forces, are twice as old as the Marines. They are farmers by day and soldiers at night. They live in the village with their families and their job is to defend the hamlet.

Mullen says the Popular Forces work well at night when they want to but often feign illness when they don't feel like going on patrol.

Pfc. Elwin C. Wise of Torrence, Calif., who turned 18 last June, is the youngest member of the squad.

"Being shot at," said Wise, "really doesn't bother me when I can hear the shots being fired. It's the one that I don't hear that worries me."

Another aspect of the team is the medical assistance it offers the villagers.

Navy Corpsman Reginald Mumley, 33, of Yakima, Wash., is the oldest man in the squad and a veteran of the Inchon landing during the Korean War. He has six children in the States, and perhaps that is the reason the men come to him with all their problems.

"They just think that I should know about everything," says Mumley.

"When the sergeant isn't on a patrol with us. I just have to look over and watch the men."

Mumley treats an average of about 15 to 20 women and children each day, mostly for minor ailments and sores. He also has fired a mortar in a tight spot.

When not on patrol or in class, the men spend their free time writing letters home, playing with animals in the helmet, studying Vietnamese, standing guard, or in gab sessions.

Marine Sgt. Thomas Cleary, 23, of Los Angeles, conducts class in bayonet fighting to some of his men and a number of militiamen in the village of Thuy Luong, about 430 miles north of Saigon. Cleary commands one of seven U.S. Marine combined action squads operating in South Viet Nam. Among their duties is the forming of militia groups among farmers and natives in 15 village areas. Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace kisses his wife, Lurleen, after early election returns indicated she was leading in the state's Democratic primary election. The Wallaces watched etrurns at the Governor's mansion. (AP Wirephato)

Lurleen Defeats Nine

Wallaces Win Democratic Gubernatorial Nomination

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Wallaces of Alabama, symbols of old-time segregation, have chalked up a victory of surprise proportions despite all efforts of civil rights forces to stop them.

Lurleen Wallace, blonde, 39-year-old mother of four, thumped nine male candidates so thoroughly in Tuesday's Democratic primary that there will be no runoff for the party's gubernatorial nomination.

Outdistanced badly was Alabama Atty. Gen. Richmond Flowers, a racial moderate who had criticized Gov. George C. Wallace for his tactics. Flowers had counted on depriving Mrs. Wallace of a clear majority, and thus forcing a runoff.

Top Power

But it was not to be and — provided Mrs. Wallace wins the November election — her husband will still be the top power in Alabama, making the decisions for his wife as a $1-a-year aide. By law, he is barred from succeeding himself officially.

Choosing words from her husband's lexicon, Mrs. Wallace told a victory celebration of supporters:

"We will continue to stand up for Alabama. We renew our pledge to continue the type of government which apparently has been endorsed today."

Negro voters in Alabama — their number doubled under the federal voting rights act of 1965 — turned out in long lines, but so did whites.

In all, Alabama has an estimated 230,000 Negroes — 20 per cent of the state's voting population — eligible to vote.

One Result

One result of the Negro surge was the apparent nomination for the Alabama House of Representatives of attorney Fred D. Gray of Tuskegee, first Negro nominee for the legislature since Reconstruction. Three other candidates of his race were ahead for legislative seats.

A Negro candidate for sheriff in Macon County led a four-man race and clinched a spot in a runoff primary. Two other Negroes were leading in other contests for sheriff

But Sheriff James G. Clark of Selma, tough handler of civil rights demonstrators in 1965, was ahead for renomination. Trailing him was Wilson Baker, the former Selma public safety director who was conciliatory toward last year's demonstrators.

Lingo Swamped

Alabama's former public safety director, Albert J. Lingo, who made a bid for Negro votes, was swamped in his effort to unseat Sheriff Melvin Bailey of Jefferson County.

Alabama was one of six states that held primaries Tuesday. In another highlight, Robert Taft Jr. of Ohio, son of the late Sen. Robert A. Taft who became known as Mr. Republican, got a foot on the comeback trail.

He won Republican nomination for the U.S. House of Representatives, beating by a 4-1 margin an opponent who supports the John Birch Society. Taft formerly served in the U.S. House, but got caught in the Johnson landslide in a try for a Senate seat in 1964 and lost out to Democratic Sen. Stephen M. Young.

Peking Statement

Red China Denies Mao Seriously Ill

TOKYO (AP) — Denying foreign speculation that Red China's top man is seriously ill, Peking's foreign ministry said today that Communist leader Mao Tze-tung "is very well."

"Rumors of Chairman Mao's physical condition are quite nonsense and malicious, false rumors of imperialism," the foreign ministry said in a statement reported by the Peking correspondent of the Japanese news agency, Kyodo.

Mao's absence from public view has resulted in wide speculation in the West that he might be seriously ill.

Central China

"The whereabouts of Chairman Mao is unknown even in Peking," Kyoto correspondent Tadao Saito reported. "However, it appears certain that Mao was resting in warm central China away from Peking since late last year until early this year."

In New York, an informant who declined to be identified said he saw Mao on Feb. 28 at the Peking airport when Kwame Nkrumah, the deposed president of Ghana, left for Moscow.

Mao did not make a speech, the witness said, but he shook hands with Nkrumah and did not appear ill. He added that the 72-year-old Chinese leader walked without assistance.

Serious Illness

Official circles in Washington, under the impression that Mao's last public appearance was in November when he received a Cambodian delegation, have been speculating that the Chinese leader had suffered a serious illness or undergone major surgery.

Working on the assumption that the Chinese leadership might be about to change hands, President Johnson's administration has been making overtures to reduce tensions between Peking and Washington.

Milwaukee Art Center

'Unhappeningness' Is Two Nudes in a Tub

MILWAUKEE (AP)— The facilities of the Milwaukee Art Center have been placed off limits for "spontaneous dramatic performances" following a "happening" in which two nudes bathed themselves in two beer coolers.

Vice squad officers Tuesday started what one called a full investigation of last Friday's "happening."

Madison Students

A group of art students and faculty from the University of Wisconsin, Madison, staged the event which included a nude man and woman.

Sgt Orval Zellmer of the Milwaukee vice squad said that he and two detectives were questioning art center leaders and some of the 250 persons who were in the audience.

When police indicated an interest in the happening after it happened art center director Tracy Atkinson said the event "was about as sensational as a marble statue in a museum."

No Knowledge

Both Atkinson and Berger disclaimed any advance knowledge of nudes appearing in the show.

Atkinson explained that "a happening is a kind of extension of abstract art in which the artist is a performer with his canvas."

State Democrats See Big Financial Surplus

'Must' Legislation

Assembly Committee Recommends Rejection Of Knowles Road Plan

MADISON (AP)—The Assembly Judiciary Committee has recommended rejection of a compromise accelerated highway construction program just hours after Gov. Warren P. Knowles told lawmakers he considered the plan "must" legislation.

The committee's action, taken on a 6-3 vote Tuesday, slowed down efforts to reach agreement on the proposal to speed highway building through a $26.5 million bonding program and a one-cent a gallon increase in the gasoline tax.

But the measure, intended as a substitute amendment to a highway acceleration bill financed through bonding alone, can still be introduced from the floor.

Not Always Upheld

Assemblyman Frank Nikolay, D-Abbotsford, committee chairman, could not say whether the recommendation would be overturned when considered by the full House. "Committee recommendations are not always upheld," he said.

After it thumbed down the substitute proposal, the committee voted 7-2 to recommend killing the original bill.

The original would have been bonded to speed the construction pace for both the interstate and the state trunk system. The compromise would bond for the interstate, but the gasoline tax hike from six to seven cents a gallon would pay for priority projects on state roads.

Assemblyman Jerry Blaska, D-Sun Prairie, chairman of the Legislative Council's Highway Advisory Committee which requested the introduction of the substitute, said afterwards he was unsure what would happen now to the proposal.

Compromise Plan

He said he wanted to bring the compromise plan before the Democratic caucus before deciding whether to make a floor fight of the issue. But he indicated that if there is a chance of its adoption, he would introduce it from the floor.

The committee's action came after the substitute was amended to cut out a section that would have in effect permitted 65-foot trucks on certain Wisconsin highways. The provision was approved by the Assembly last July as a separate bill after a long and controversial debate.

Blaska told the Judiciary Committee that the section was necessary to obtain the trucking industry's support of the bill.

Requested Passage

Earlier in the day, Gov. Knowles had addressed a joint session of the Legislature and specifically requested passage of the compromise bill.

"I am sure that each of us could find features of the compromise with which we could disagree," Knowles said, "but if highway acceleration is to be accomplished, we must reconsider our personal philosophies to combine forces for the common good of the state."

Omro Youth Drowns in Fox River

OSHKOSH — Darrell Craig, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Craig, route 1, Omro, drowned Tuesday night.

Winnebago County Coroner Art C. Miller said the body of the youth, who was an epileptic, was found by his brother, Danny, 16, about 9:35 p.m. Tuesday floating in the Fox River between Omro and Eureka and near the shore. Darrell had left about 8:30 p.m. to go fishing a half mile from their home.

The younger boy pulled his brother's body from the water, placed it on shore, then ran home to notify his parents. The parents called an Omro physician who advised them to call the sheriff's office.

Two Winnebago county squad cars and the ambulance were sent to the scene and county policeman Gerald Vonderloh gave mouth-to-mouth resuscitation until the Moor ambulance arrived to administer oxygen. The youth was taken to the physician's office where he was pronounced dead.

Coroner Miller placed the death at about 8:45 p. m. and ruled it accidental drowning.

It was not known whether the youth may have had a epileptic seizure.

Tourism Hit By Increases In British Tax

Will Raise Revenue, Force Some Workers Into Manufacturing

LONDON (AP) — Britain's automobile industry and the man in the street were relieved today at the Labor government's new budget but hotels and the tourist industry were angry.

The 1966-7 budget, unveiled by Chancellor of the Exchequer James Callaghan in the House of Commons Tuesday, introduced a payroll tax on the service industries and gave a per-worker subsidy to manufacturers.

The unique tax is designed to raise revenue and to drive workers into manufacturing, thus stimulating Britain's exports while maintaining full employment.

Bolster Pound

Britain needs to increase its exports to bolster the pound sterling, which is still recovering from the financial crisis of 1964-5.

Callaghan's budget estimated revenue during the fiscal year at 9.8 billion pounds ($27.5 billion) and expenditures at 9.1 billion pounds ($25.6 billion).

Hotels and tourist enterprises, as service industries, were hit by the payroll tax although they are one of Britain's biggest earners of foreign currency. They can also expect to pay more for laundry and similar services.

Under the tax, the service industries will pay the government $3.50 a week for each man on the payroll, and half that for women and boys.

Possible Changes

Callaghan said in an interview Tuesday night the tax could be lifted from some sectors of the economy or extended to others during the fiscal year.

The automobile industry, which had been expecting a higher sales or gasoline tax or higher auto license fees, instead

Legislative Leaders Say Extra Funds Will Range As High ss $70.7 Million

Post-Crescent News Service

MADISON — The state's financial surplus will range between $38 million and $70.7 million, legislative Democratic leaders said today.

But the financial boon should not signal an increase in spending by the May session of the State Legislature, the Democrats quickly warned.

The figure, calculated by party legislative staff researchers, raises the state's surplus accounts to at least $40.4 million, according to Assembly Speaker Robert Huber, D-West Allis. At the close of last November's session the state had $2.4 million unspent in its coffers.

Huber, speaking at a special morning press conference called to reveal the figures, said the estimates prove the need for annual legislative sessions more than anything else.

It is impossible, he said, for any revenue estimates to be made based on the existing two-year budget season.

"We don't mean to imply that there are any shenanigans going

Pentagon Reports On Highly Secret U. S. Air Missions

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secrecy-shrouded air operations over Laos in the past two years have resulted in the deaths of 11 U.S. fliers, the Defense Department reports.

Fewer than 20 air crewmen also are missing or prisoners of the Communists as a result of air action in the area, the Pentagon said.

The disclosures, made Tuesday in response to a query, represented a crack in the secrecy which has been maintained largely to avoid embarrassing the Laotian government.

U.S. air attacks on Communist infiltration routes leading through Laos into South Viet Nam have been stepped up in recent months. But weekly announcements on Viet Nam casualties have made no mention of losses in Laos.

Presidential Veto Called for On Money Bills

Representative Bow Urges 'Arm-Twisters' To Help Hold Budget

WASHINGTON (AP) — The leader of a House Republican campaign to cut appropriations called on President Johnson today to veto money bills that exceed his budget.

As an alternative, Rep. Frank T. Bow of Ohio, senior Republican on the House Appropriations Committee, suggested Johnson send some of his experienced arm-twisters like Postmaster General Lawrence F. O'Brien to the Capitol to help hold the line.

Only Tuesday, the House Armed Services Committee voted almost $1 billion in excess of the President's budget request for military procurement.

More Than Requested

Bow's comments were in a speech prepared for House consideration of a bill appropriating $10,555,342,500 to the Labor Department and the Department of Health, Education and Welfare for the fiscal year starting July 1.

The bill contains about $490 million more than the President requested and follows a 1966 pattern of budget-busting on appropriation bills. Bow planned to offer amendments to cut back the bill but was not optimistic about his chances of winning. He hasn't won a battle this year in his war against increased appropriations.

The President, Bow said, "has cajoled and needled individual members of Congress about budget increases, but he has also marched Postmaster General O'Brien and his legislative liaison troops up here to do battle to save the funding of the rent subsidy program."

The reference was to an earlier attempt to deny funds for the rent subsidy provision of the 1965 housing bill. Both the House and Senate approved the money by close votes.

Bow suggested that the President "either send General O'Brien and his legislative troops back up here to give aid and comfort to those of us who are trying to help the President, or that he exercise his veto power on bills that exceed his budget estimates."

Cripple Monsoon Offensive

U. S. B52s Continue Pounding Red Supply Routes Into S. Viet Nam

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — American B52 bombers pounded the southern end of the main Viet Cong supply route again today in the continuing drive to cripple the Communists' expected monsoon offensive.

For the seventh out of the past eight days, the Stratofortresses unloaded their 750-pound bombs on suspected enemy supply and troop areas in the Communist C Zone about 65 miles northwest of Saigon and not far from the Cambodian border.

This area is regarded as the southern terminal of the Ho Chi Minh jungle trail over which the Reds send supplies and men from the north

Rains Due

With the monsoon rains due to start in South Viet Nam within a few days, the Viet Cong are expected to open a fresh offensive after hiding out for the past three weeks. The Communists have capitalized on this period in the past because the incessant rains sharply curtail U S air support of ground forces

There were these other developments in the war:

Australia began a buildup of its forces in Viet Nam with the arrival of the transport Sydney bringing 400 men and 300 trucks, weapons carriers and other equipment. This is the first contingent of 4,500 men due between now and mid-June to replace 1,500 Aussies who have been here since last Augsst.

Marine Action

The U S. Command announced that American Marines, in two actions Tuesday killed 29 Viet Cong while ground action elsewhere was negligible.

U.S. planes flew 301 sorties over South Viet Nam. But bad weather grounded all Air Force strikes over North Viet Nam and the Navy flew only eight missions there.

The foul weather in the north foreshadowed the onset of the May-to-August monsoon season in the south.

"This weather looks like the beginning of the southwest monsoon," a U.S. military spokesman said. "It is likely to hamper our visual air strikes."

Navy Missions

The eight Navy missions over North Viet Nam struck at barges and railroad boxcars, a communique said.

In the most significant of the sorties over South Viet Nam, Air Force and Navy fighter-bombers attacked a suspected Viet Cong battalion near Can Tho, 70 miles southeast of Saigon. Pilots claimed destruction or damage to more than 100 buildings in the face of heavy ground fire.

The U.S command announced that troops of the U.S. 25th Infantry, in an operation they began 20 miles northwest of Saigon on April 27, have killed 12 Viet Cong and seized 17 suspects.

Another terrorist incident was reported. A mine went off in Can Tho, injuring five Vietnamese civilians.

Soldiers of the 1st Battalion, 2nd Infantry duck under the blast of helicopter rotors during an assault landing last week 70 miles north of Saigon. The troops, members of the 1st Infantry Division, advanced on Viet Cong supply bases along the Rach Beng river bordering Cambodia. (AP Wirephoto)

Marion to Study Housing Program

Council Appoints Committee to Check Availability of Aids

MARION — A special committee has been formed by the city council to investigate the formation of a housing and urban development program and the elgibility of the city for federal grants to further the project.

Named to the committee were Dr. William McInnis, Jerry McFarren, Ken Halpop, William Knitt and Vilas Lehman.

The council also approved closing the portion of Rogers Street and SE Fifth Street along the railroad tracks on one side and to County Trunk S on the other.

Peters and Bowers were low bidders on the city hall fuel oil contract for the coming year. The low bidder for cement for the curb and gutter program was awarded to Knitts Lumber.

James Rowan and John Bartelt of the Marion High School faculty were hired to coordinate the summer recreation program which will include swimming, baseball, tennis, basketball and a variety of playground activities, at a combined salary of $1,000.

A citizens group has volunteered to build two new dugouts at the athletic park. The council will assist financially.

It also voted to install a six-inch water main, starting at Parkview and extending to the grandstand, tennis court and skating rink. This will assure sufficient water for sprinkling the diamond and flooding the rink in winter.

Building permits were granted to Dave Tribby for a dog kennel, to Gerald Bork for a garage, and to Leroy Wedde for a garage and breezeway.

Appleton Bid Urged for Trade School

Alderman Says City Should Make Land Available

Appleton should start thinking about making a bid for a new area vocational school and have land availble for its construction, Ald. Roy Pointer (14th) said Monday.

Pointer made his suggestion at the end of the city plan commission meeting.

The alderman also said the Appleton Board of Education is interested in obtaining a school site on the far northeast side of the city.

Land Use Plan

Pointer said a land-use plan should be drawn up for the 95 acres of property the city purchased last year for park and other purposes. It is known as the Landycke property and located north of Northland Avenue.

He also thought the park board would be interested in developing a portion of the property.

"I think this area (95 acres) should be planned out now and be prepared to offer a site for an area vocational school should Appleton be considered," Pointer said.

"It's not that Appleton should get the jump on any other community, but I do believe we ought to know what site the city could offer for the proposed area vocational school facility," Pointer added.

There was indication a decision may be made in June on selecting the city where the school is to be located.

City Planner Walter Rasmussen was asked by the commission to draw up a land-use plan for the 95 acres.

The council has gone on record that none of the land will be disposed of or developed unless a plan is prepared for the entire area.

Pointer said he knew the school board was "definitely interested in getting a school site out there."

New London C of C Studies Ways of Promoting Tourism

Giant 3,000 Pound Anchor to be Restored, Displayed at Museum

NEW LONDON — Means of promoting the city to tourists were discussed at the Chamber of Commerce city promotion committee meeting Tuesday.

A giant, 3,000-pound anchor will be restored and displayed within the city. It will coincide with the city slogan, "Drop Your Anchor at New London."

Plans have been made to display the anchor at the city museum on U S. 45. The committee will survey the cost of cleaning and restoring the anchor.

Road Signs

The construction of road signs to be displayed a distance from the city was discussed but no action was taken. The committee asked for a study of the cost of constructing and maintaining the signs.

Means of building good will and promoting repeat business were discussed. The retail committee will be consulted on the possibility of giving gum with wrappers advertising the city to persons passing through. Another suggestion was to give pins which contained a slogan identifying the city.

Orville Johnson, committee chairman, suggested the river banks between the S. Pearl and Shawano Street bridges be beautified and that a promotion be conducted to encourage businesses and industries to improve their premises during the cleanup promotion.

Riverbank Project

The Woman's Club is planning a riverbank beautification project, the committe was informed. It would include the planting of trees as part of the project.

An award to be presented to the merchant or industry of the month was discussed. It would be made on a point basis, according to city promotion, service to the city and other factors.

'Pop-Op' Art To be Topic At Lawrence

Lecture Coincides With Exhibit of New York Works

The "Pop-Op" movement in art will be the subject of a lecture given by the director of the Milwaukee Art Center at 8 p.m. Thursday in Lawrence University's Worcester Art Center.

The speaker, Tracy Atkinson, will appear under auspices of the Lawrence Student Senate. His talk coincides with a Pop-Op art exhibit being shown at the Lawrence gallery. The exhibit was assembled by Ivan Karp for the Leo Castelli Gallery, New York.

Pop-Op art first emerged in about 1961 in New York. Its earliest manifestations were seen there and in London in the late fifties, and stylistic roots found in such movements in French Cubism at the time of World War I, and the Dada movement immediately following the war.

Its style is essentially realistic, highly urbanized and concerned with the banalities and incongruities of modern life. Likely Pop-Op themes can be found in the supermarket, on television, and among a host of brand-name products and commodities. Its moods range from scathing social criticism to elementary witticism.

Thursday's lecture is open to the public without charge. The Castelli exhibit will continue through May 15.

Butter, Cheese, Pork

NFO Considers Buying Food for Viet Nam GIs

The executive board of the Wisconsin National Farmers Organization (WNFO) in session at Port Edward, took action requesting the national board of the NFO to explore the possibility of raising sufficient funds to purchase butter, cheese and pork to supply the Armed Forces in Viet Nam.

State NFO President Ray Johnson said, Washington has repeatedly stated that the American farm economy can produce guns and butter, but we now find the Administration removing these items from the diet of our men in Viet Nam.

"It is the opinion of the Wisconsin NFO board that the American farmer, not only is capable of producing butter, cheese and pork in sufficient quantity to provide for the domestic economy, as well as for the Armed Forces, but that these same farmers will raise the funds to provide these foods for the men sacrificing so much for the welfare, protection and ideals of the nation," Johnson said.

Johnson said he would ask the national organization to give all farmers an opportunity to participate in this program.

Calumet Cheesemakers Hit Higher Import Quota Request

HILBERT — The Calumet County Cheesemakers Association went on record last week in opposing the U.S. Department of Agriculture's request to raise the import quota for cheddar cheese.

Members will write letters to egation protesting the request that the U.S. Tariff Commission raise the quota to 9,565,300 pounds for the next quota year. The request represents an increase almost four times greater than the present level.

The cheesemakers said they do not think it is necessary to import cheese to depress prices. They believe the prices are reasonable in terms of consumer purchasing power.

The group also made plans for the annual Cheese Derby, which is scheduled for June 24 at Civic Park. The derby will be sponsored in conjunction with "June Dairy Month."

The association will continue to sponsor the Calumet County Dairy Queen contest. The queen and two princesses will be crowned at the derby. Alice in Dairyland will be invited to attend the event.

Toasted cheese sandwiches and other refreshments will be served. The Chilton City Band will play at a band concert.

About 250 pounds of cheese will be given away during the evening.

Update 1936 Laws

New London Council to Draft New Map, Ordinance on City Zoning

NEW LONDON — The city planning commission is to begin work on a new zoning ordinance and map, the city council decided Tuesday.

Council approval was given to a commission recommendation that a new zoning map and ordinance be drawn to update the present one, which was approved in 1936.

The new ordinance and map are expected to eliminate some of the petitions for rezoning which have filled commission and council agendas.

A recommendation by the commission that property near Dr. Pfeifer Park be rezoned to business property was tabled by the council until the May 17 meeting.

Boat Launching Area

Acting on a final planning commission recommendation, the council voted to have the board of public works study the development of Bloomfield Street as a boat launching area. Al Schafer, a boat club member, said he was opposed to the development of the area into another landing for boats when those in Riverside Park were not being maintained.

A $300 grant was made to help with the expenses of the Region 7 "Alice in Dairyland" contest to be held here May 14.

The cost of constructing a mayor's office in city hall will be studied.

Mayor's Privacy

Mayor Harry S. Emans has maintained that the mayor should have a place to conduct city business without interference.

In zoning actions, the remaining residential property in a block surrounded by Shawano, Spring and Oshkosh streets and Wolf River Avenue was rezoned business. The Huzzar property was rezoned business from residential and the FW Club property zoned business on a permanent basis.

The Abraham and Lyons additions to the city were rezoned industrial.

May 17 was set as a public hearing date on curb and gutter work for the summer.

Ald. Mrs Isabelle Schoenrock (2nd) said she had received numerous complaints on junked cars, lumber and other debris being kept on yards within the city. She said at present no ordinance covered this and asked that one be adopted.

A committee consisting of the board of health, S. W. Krostue, city attorney, and Police Chief Jack Algiers was named to draft an ordinance on the removal of trash.

The suggestion to change the name of the park came from Waupaca businessman Fred Mannel and received unanimous approval from Mayor Lloyd Matheson and council members.

In his letter to the council, Mannel said, Rasmussen has done an outstanding job in developing and maintaining the tiny park and should receive the honor of having the park named after him at this time.

Unbeaten Marion Scores 12-2 Decision Over Manawa '9'

CENTRAL WISCONSIN CONFERENCE

Manawa's Dennis Nelson finally snapped Ken Frailing's "hex" on Central Wisconsin Conference batsmen.

After pitching 20 consecutive no-hit innings in CWC action, Marion's Frailing finally yielded a mis-judged fly ball single to Nelson in the seventh frame Tuesday.

Nelson's blow was not enough however, as the Mustangs rolled to their fourth straight CWC triumph and sixth for the season without defeat.

Frailing fanned 17, walked one and hit two batsmen en route to the 12-2 triumph over the Wolves, who were previously unbeaten in CWC play.

Nelson's single, the only Manawa safety, in the seventh preceded a hit batsman and both runners scored on an error in Marion's attempt to halt a double steal.

The big man at the plate for Marion was Tom Kristof, who rapped out four hits in five trips, including a pair of triples and doubles. Tom Brandenburg contributed two triples.

Frailing's composite record for the season is 62 strikeouts in 28 innings and only one earned run. The Marion southpaw has walked only 14 and yielded four hits.

In other CWC action, Waupaca measured Wautoma, 12-5, and Iola-Scandinavia surprised Wittenberg, 4-2. Amherst plays at Weyauwega today.

Terry Martin led the Waupaca onslaught with three singles in four trips, while teammate Don Peterson added a double and single. Rick Riddle hurled 2-hit ball in notching the victory.

Gene Helgeson's 2-run single in the sixth inning provided I-S with its margin of victory. Bill Olson and Bruce Budsberg rapped out doubles for the Thunderbirds. Wittenberg's Ted Derrow and Tom Dobbe also hit doubles.

Thilmany Road Change Okayed At Kaukauna

Council Approval Given for Partial Vacating, Relocation

KAUKAUNA — The council Tuesday night approved the vacating of a portion of Thilmany Road and relocation of the road after no objections were voiced at a public hearing.

The change follows the recommendation of the planning commission. Aldermen took no action on the vacating of Boyd Avenue from the south line of the alley south of Tenth Street to E. 15th Street and a portion of E. 11th Street between Boyd and Cleveland Avenues, both recommended by the planning commission, until further study could be made of the area.

A public hearing will be held on the rezoning of four lots in the 700 block of Lawe Street from residential to central business district, thus making the entire street the same zone classification.

Requests for a zoning change from class A to class B residential were held for study under the master plan being prepared by the city and the vacating of a portion of Orchard Drive was delayed until it could be determined how much of the street would be needed for future storm sewer and water main installations.

Traffic Changes

Police were instructed to place stop signs on Taft, Roosevelt, Wilson and Ducharme Street intersections while road repairs are undertaken in the area. The clerk was instructed to write the State Highway Department requesting a traffic signal at Second and Main streets and police were authorized to have the stop sign at Third Street and Reaume Avenue removed from Third Street and installed on Reaume, thus making Third a through street.

Harold V. Engerson, chief of police, was authorized to hire three policemen as summer relief help. Police Lt. Robert Main was authorized to attend a Wisconsin Police Administrative school in Milwaukee May 17 and 18. Approval was given to sending one fireman to school at West Allis May 13 and 14 and another to Oshkosh May 25 and 26, both fire training schools conducted by the State Vocational board.

Mayor Joseph Bayorgeon informed the council 40 Boy Scouts had volunteered to assist the Jaycees with cleaning up the bank of the Fox River and urged aldermen to give the civic organization and Boy Scouts whatever help is needed to complete the job.

Aldermen were notified by the State Highway Commission of the lowering of the speed limit on State 55 from 50 to 40 miles per hour within the city from 18th Street to the south city limits. Aldermen had requested the reduction due to the rapid residential development in that area and the increasing number of school children crossing the highway.

After considerable discussion on the hiring of a handicapped man to serve as assistant bridge tender on the Lawe Street bridge, aldermen voted to follow the state recommendation and retain the two bridge operators utilized last year and have the handicapped man operate the Wisconsin Avenue bridge.

The car allowance for the city engineer will be discontinued June 1 and the engineer was authorized to take home the city truck and use it for emergency calls on city businesses. The sewer contract with Bower Brothers was extended to permit installation of a sanitary sewer line on Raught Street.

Ald. Gilbert Anderson (5th), chairman of the finance committee, warned aldermen against authorizing sewer installations not included in the budget, indicating at the end of the year they would find the city several thousand dollars in debt.

Prairie du Chien Tracks Blocked as 34 Cars Derail

PRAIRIE DU CHIEN (AP)— a 112 - car Burlington Road freight train derailed just south of the city limits about 2:15 this morning. Thirty - four cars left the tracks, blocking the railroad's main line between Minneapolis and Chicago, but no injuries were reported.

The cause of the derailment has not yet been determined.

The cars which left the rails tore up 1,500 feet of track and piled into a jumbled heap along the right-of-way. Twelve of the cars carried heavy machinery and steel and the other 22 were empty.

There was speculation that it would take several days to clear the track. A southbound passenger train was halted at the scene and backed all the way into LaCrosse, then was rerouted on Milwaukee Road tracks on the west side of the Mississippi River.

Educational TV in the Fox Riv er Valley

The proposal by the Coordinating Committee for Higher Education, that funds be appropriated for two more educational television outlets in the state is a good one. Although state educational networks often have strayed from the business of education into entertainment, sometimes with the excuse that they must attract an audience, the potentials of educational television are tremendous.

The current proposal is to open a station near Eau Claire and another in the Fox River Valley. There is likely to be competition for the sites between existing university facilities in both areas. The Wisconsin State Universities at Eau Claire and at Stout could handle one while the State University at Oshkosh certainly will put in a strong bid against the establishment of the station in Green Bay. In determining the site, authorities should carefully take into consideration the present facilities and the ability for expansion. In the first few years the new stations, if approved, would transmit only video tapes from the existing state stations and from the National Educational Television Network. But in the future there probably would be production opportunities in the areas concerned.

Actually the idea of educational television over present commercial channels has been contemplated in the Fox River Valley. The latest federal education act provides funds for such activities and the new Cooperative Educational Agencies are ideal for making such programs available to schools within their areas. The major problem is finding time which has not been committed commercially. Such programs obviously should be consistently presented and the high level of competition among television stations in this area presents problems.

We do not feel that a television set ever will be able to take the place of a classroom teacher. But in some fields, such as a foreign language or in areas requiring the use of expensive equipment for demonstration, as well as taking advantage of the ability of some teachers to teach on the screen, television has a potentially big role in education. It also can help to close the gap in educational opportunities between schools of a reasonable size and those which must, for one reason or another, be limited in the number of students, courses and equipment.

Federal aids will pay about two-thirds of the original costs. However, after that the costs will amount to at least $100,000 a year. Such estimates almost always are too low. But funds for educational television can be justified since the medium no longer is in the experimental stage. The expansion of educational channels can contribute to the classroom instruction at all levels of schooling and provide wider cultural opportunities which commercial television, because of its need to appeal to a mass audience, is unable to do.

School Lunches, Milk No Place for Cuts

President Johnson's plan to drastically reduce federal appropriations for the school milk and school lunch programs has met a reversal at the hands of the House Appropriations Committee.

The committee restored $82 million to the $21 million which the President had asked for the school milk program, and added $19 million to the $138 million proposed for the school lunch program. The appropriations are expected to be near these levels when the bill receives final action in the House.

A conclusion now will be voiced by some that the House committee's action illustrates that it is impossible to reduce federal expenditures in the face of protests from economic groups and from the public which wants federal programs continued. The President, in this case, had proposed with some logic that children from families who were able to pay for their school milk should do so. But one problem was that it was a difficult assignment for local school and welfare officials to make this determination.

Rather than concluding that the House action on school milk and school lunches represents an illustration of the total inability of Congress to reverse spending trends, it would be more accurate to say that the public attitude was that this was the wrong field to make reductions and that there are plenty of better economy targets for congressmen.

This is true in particular of new programs and Department of Agriculture appropriations measures now in the Congress illustrate the point.

The House Appropriations Committee, for example, cut $2.8 billion which was requested as a five-times increase to $637,000,000 provided for the Rural Community Development Service. In the Senate, an open-ended authorization has been provided on a 43-21 vote for a rural planning program to be administered by, of all people, the new Department of Housing and Urban Development.

The Rural Community Development Service wants to open 40 offices across the nation as a special war on poverty in rural areas. The planning funds authorized by the Senate are intended to find ways to get industries for rural areas.

The sums involved may be small, but they represent the birth of two more federal functions. The first question is whether duties cannot be shuffled within the Department of Agriculture bureaucracy, if the new functions are judged as necessary and not a duplication of projects like those of the anti-poverty program. This is a better place for saving money than making schoolchildren the target for spending reductions.

Reunification of Germany

One of the major differences between the majority Christian Democrats and several other political parties in West Germany has been what to do about East Germany. The Socialists in particular, under the leadership of Mayor Willy Brandt, have encouraged a "dialogue" with the representatives of the East German government which is not recognized by any but other Communist regimes.

The advice was academic until recently because the East Germans refused to consider any such conversations. But the puppet dictator, Ulbricht, last winter sent a note to the West suggesting that perhaps such meetings could be held and the reaction in East Germany was highly enthusiastic. The actual danger now is that East Germany, rather than the West, will give the appearance of being willing to talk about reunion.

Discussions about the reunification of Germany are bound to hit the snag of how such a process should be accomplished. Since the population of West Germany is considerably larger than that of the East, its representation in any unified government would have to be proportionately larger. But the Communists always have insisted, not only that the government of East Germany be given due recognition with that of the West in any negotiations toward reunification, but that it be given equal recognition whatever the difference in population. This also is ridiculous since the government of West Germany is a duly elected government and that of East Germany is not. Moreover, the latter still is to a great extent a mere puppet of the Soviet Union.

The reunification of Germany must be considered as far in the future if, indeed, it ever is possible. The reasons are not only the dangers of acceding to Red demands. There could be a version of the Rapacki plan which would neutralize much of Europe and possibly increase the dangers of Red domination although that seems more remote than in earlier years. The Communist countries of Eastern Europe are in fact drawing closer to the West, at least in economic measures. But there also are fears among some other countries of Europe, and in the United States, that a reunified Germany would once more become a military threat to the free world. Since the Soviet Union—with some reason—also retains this fear, it is unlikely to put much support behind reunification and under present circumstances, Russian agreement is a practical necessity.

The agreement to hold a "dialogue" may tend toward some sort of recognition of the East German regime and this is obviously one reason why Chancellor Erhard's party is not very enthusiastic. But the conversations could also serve to reduce the always dangerous tensions in the border areas, to make transportation back and forth easier for West Germans, and even to point toward such passage for the East Germans imprisoned behind the Wall.

Union Temperance Meetings

100 YEARS AGO
Quoted from the Appleton Motor for May 3, 1866.

A series of temperance meetings are being held in various churches of this City, and are conducted by the resident ministry.

The first meeting of the series was held Sunday evening last at the Methodist Episcopal Church and was largely attended. It proved to be a very interesting meeting.

Besides the regular speakers, several voluntary speeches were made.

The next meeting will be held at the Congregational Church, next Sunday evening.

Other officers included Miss Florence Ruhsam, vice president; Miss Beatrice Mankes, recording secretary; Mrs. Emil Gehrke, corresponding secretary, and Miss Dorothy Gahsman, treasurer.

Marshall Hulbert, baritone and associate professor of music at Lawrence Conservatory of Music, appeared at the Musical Arts Club of Wausau. He sand two songs and an operatic aria at the club's spring concert.

Pesticide Season Nearing; Warns of Dangerous Uses

Editor, Post-Crescent:

An April 16, 1966, a "Conference on Pesticides" was held in Madison. It was sponsored jointly by the Citizens' Natural Resources Association of Wisconsin, Inc., and the Botany Department of the University of Wisconsin. The speakers were entomologists, ecologists, a professor of chemistry, a geneticist and a neuropsychiatrist.

These men are becoming increasingly alarmed at the widespread and careless use of pesticides. Those interested in wildlife conservation and the preservation of our forests and streams are very much opposed to the spraying of DDT and similar strong poisons that kill indiscriminately and bring about undesirable changes in the "ecosystem."

The geneticists and chemists are trying to find out what these poisons do to the genes in the germplasm of insects that produces resistant strains that in turn require stronger and more dangerous applications of poison to kill them.

Neuropsychiatrists have investigated enough cases where pesticides have been taken accidentally to prove that they are very detrimental to human health. Everyone is worried about the fallout from atomic bombs, but no one seems concerned about the more immediate danger from the 783 million pounds of pesticides with 60,000 different chemical formulas like DDT, all registered with the FDA, which were produced and sold last year.

The May issue of "Readers' Digest" contains an article entitled, "Pesticides: Handle With Care." It states that the American Medical Association recommends that "generalized community spraying should be done to eliminate a definite health hazard, and only after homeowners have been warned to close their windows and keep children and pets inside." Users of pesticides must understand that if large enough quantities are swallowed, inhaled, or absorbed through the skin, pesticides can kill.

What has all this to do with Appleton? In a few short weeks, her citizens will be treated to the first lethal blast of a DDT type poison in a diesel fuel base which is heated to the vaporization point, all for the purpose of knocking down mosquitos for two weeks or less. This is done without warning so that windows are open and pets are out. Children are permitted to follow the fogger and run in the thickest fog for blocks at a time. What a barbaric and dangerous technique for the brief comfort gained.

Many towns have reduced the mosquito population effectively and pleasantly by installing numerous martin houses. One martin can consume some 2,000 mosquitos in a day. This year, home and garden magazines are advertising dozens of devices which attract and kill bugs. Why can't Appleton use a safe and sensible approach to mosquito control?

"Concerned"

Bear Creek Principal Asks Correction of News Story

Editor, Post-Crescent:

There are a number of assumptions stated as fact in the article of April 27, 1966, concerning the organization of the Bear Creek School District which are false and misleading. As to which teachers are qualified, the basis of qualifications would have to be defined. You see, there are a number of experts in this field who believe that an honest and positive attitude toward life, natural intelligence, and "good common sense" gained from all life experiences are more vital aspects of teacher qualification than formal education; although, of course, an adequate formal education is desirable, but far from the whole story.

So you see if you are comparing one group of individuals to another it would be quite foolish to do so on the basis of one factor and not the most important one at that.

However, the purpose of this letter is most certainly to register dissatisfaction with the reporting of an obvious falsehood in the article.

The article stated that the elementary school has no qualified art teacher. During all of last year and all of this year we have had a most highly qualified art teacher teaching grades 1-8. She is certified by the State of Wisconsin to teach art in grades 1-12 and has a B.A. degree with a major in art education.

Please print a correction of this slanderous falsehood. If you wish to print the entire letter it would be fine with me.

Bear Creek Public Schools
Bear Creek, Wisconsin

Editor's Note: This information reported in the April 27 edition of The Post-Crescent, regarding the Bear Creek High School, was taken from a study by the State Department of Public Instruction.

In a telephone conversation with Clarence Wentland, supervisor of school district reorganization, State Department of Public Instruction, April 29, Wentland said that when the impact study on Bear Creek was conducted, a preliminary report had not reached his office.

The corrected curriculum offerings at the Bear Creek elementary school point out that a part-time teacher, Mrs. Lucy Perez, a fully-qualified art teacher, is being paid $1,500 to teach elementary art. Wentland further stated that the minimum salary for a degree teacher is $4,000 and that this would indicate Mrs. Perez teaches less than half-time.

No high school art is listed on the preliminary report, according to Wentland.

Asks Facts Instead of Sentiment

Editor, Post-Crescent:

Sunday I read an article in your paper which I found very disturbing. "Bear Creek Will Fight To Keep School District". Since we are taxpayers in this Bear Creek District which is in question I'd like our side of it to be printed.

I do think that facts instead of sentiment should have something to do with our thinking. It's fine to have loyalty, but some sense would help.

The tax rate we pay in comparison to the surrounding communities is outrageous. The education in the high school certainly leaves something to be desired. There are a few good teachers like Mr. Shaw. But then? ? ?

The problem would not be so bad, but there is a very high rate of non-tax paying citizens in the village. It would be very enlightening to know how many children in this school have tax-paying parents.

In the article a business woman stated that she was afraid that the villge would become a ghost town. But why? We feel that if the high school stays, this will drive many more of us out.

I think a great deal of credit should go to the C.E.S.A. for trying to do what they feel is best for our children. Not necessarily what suits our particular feelings. More power to them.

A Disgusted Housewife

Wisconsin Report

GOP Sees Wisconsin Gains as Indicative Of National Outlook

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

WASHINGTON — A Wisconsin-trained politician here explains the outlook for the Republicans in the Congressional elections this year in terms of Wisconsin political geography.

If the Republicans recapture

Wyngaard

the 6th District in which freshman Rep. John Race, Fond du Lac Democrat, was elected two years ago, it will mean that they are pretty certain to recover 30 seats around the country to enlarge their weak minority of 140 now held, he says.

The Republicans are confident of winning in that 6th District. Thus they feel they are justified in forecasting a gain of 30 seats as a conservative minimum.

If they also recover the 1st District taken by Democratic Rep. Lynn Stalbaum of Racine two years ago, they are likely to expand their string of victories for a gain of 40 seats nationwide in the fall. They are not sure about the 1st District. But they are optimistic, and thus there will be a fair number of predictions for a gain of 40 seats in the country as a whole.

And if they win the 2nd District seat of Rep. Robert Kastenmeier, an admittedly difficult one, they will almost surely increase their bloc in the House of Representatives by 50 or more in November.

MILLS FIGURES

The analysis comes from Jack Mills, once a moving spirit in the Young Republican Federation of Wisconsin, who came to Washington, as a protege of the late Thomas E. Coleman of Madison a decade and a half ago and has risen steadily in his chosen profession of politics.

Mills is a veteran member of the staff of the Republican Congressional Committee and is now director of its campaign machinery. The committee is one of the key units of the Republican Party, soliciting major sources of campaign funds for the task of electing Republicans wherever they have a chance to compete with the Democrats. It works closely with the national committee, but is independent of its control in practical terms.

It is one of the striking coincidences of politics that the counter-part Republican Senatorial Campaign Committee also has a staff director who learned his political trade in Wisconsin election, and also as a protege of the late Mr. Coleman, the longtime chief of the Wisconsin party organization. Victor Johnston has been the chief strategist of the senatorial campaign wing of the GOP since he joined it during the era of Sen. Robert A. Taft's leadership in the late 1940s.

Democrats have parallel machinery devoted to house and senatorial elections. Together they command forces of field men, publicity resources, and money that seem astonishing to the visitor familiar with the modest equipment that serves the parties in a Wisconsin legislative campaign context.

REALISM

Their programs are based on the realization that the candidate for congressman, even as the candidate for the Legislature in a typical state, needs help and that a political party has gained little if it elects the executive but defaults in the choice of men who will push the roll call buttons in the legislative branch.

To a considerable degree, moreover, the rationale of such auxiliaries reflects the realization that the typical candidate for any legislative seat in modern times needs more assistance than he is likely to be able to manage on his own account. Thus the well-heeled partisan in New York may be contributing indirectly to the congressional aspirant in Wisconsin, and vice versa.

Both Wisconsin political parties are now trying to form legislative campaign committees out of precisely the same pragmatic considerations. A Republican contributor in Milwaukee may not have much hope of electing Republicans in his own neighborhood, but he can help them prosper in more friendly districts. The Democratic giver in liberal Dane County, likewise, may do his bit toward aiding the fight in hostile Republican territory.

Strictly Personal

Literature Originals Should be Preserved

BY SYNDEY J. HARRIS

Great works that have come into the public domain should be put into a public trust, to prevent their perversion and vulgarization. This was the first thought that occurred to me while the children were watching a TV special of

Harris

"Alice in Wonderland" a few weeks ago.

It was a frightful travesty of that classic book, which has been more widely translated and provided the source of more quotations than any other English work except Shakespeare and the King James Bible.

After 56 years, as you may know, the author's rights run out on a book, and it is then in the "public domain"—which means that anyone can publish it, or mutilate it, without financial payment or moral responsibility. The book "belongs" to no one.

In many important ways, "Alice" is not a children's book at all, even though it has entertained and fascinated millions of children in the 100 years since it was written.

For, working out of the springs of his unconscious, Lewis Carroll shaped a work of art that has stimulated the thoughts of historians, mathematicians, psychiatrists, educators, and even those few statesmen who have been wise enough to draw political analogies from its pages.

Alice's adventures underground may be read, on one level, as a remarkable exposition of the theory of relativity, long before Einstein came along to validate it scientifically. And psychoanalysts have written lengthy and learned papers on Carroll's anticipation of Freudian symbolism; indeed, the whole book is an amazingly accurate map of the dream-world of the child that never dies within us.

The vagaries of the law, the absurdities of political and military conflicts, the constricting immluence of formal education, the false deference that power pays to sentiment (vide, "The Walrus and the Carpenter," which is an epic of social hypocrisy)—all these, and more, make "Alice" a never-ending source of intellectual delight and illuminaton.

Quite apart from these sophisticated elements, however, "Alice" is a great work of art, rich in imagery, gracefully composed, elegantly structured, holding in rare equilibrium the worlds of sensibility and of fantasy. It's perfect tension between opposites, in fact, is the key to its immortality.

Such works should be protected from vandalism as much as a painting or a cathedral. When their copyright expires, they should go into a national trust, and permission should be given to republish only in a true and faithful version. Defacing "Alice" is no less criminal than painting a moustache on the Mona Lisa.

Student Commandos Fight U. S. Support of Ky Regime

By GEORGE ESPER

DA NANG, South Viet Nam (AP) — They wear brown khaki shirts and bright red scarves. They carry M1 carbines and call themselves the student commandos.

They came to Da Nang from Hue last week and set up headquarters at the Buddhist School. Hue, the old imperial capital 50 miles north of Da Nang, has been the center of past demonstrations that helped topple governments.

"We come here in order to help the people's struggle against the Premier Nguyen Cao Ky government," one of the leaders explained.

Asked why they were armed, Nguyen Dac Xuan, 23, an education student at Hue University who is the organizer of the commandos, said: "We have the same aim with the Vietnamese military force."

Want Overthrow

Vietnamese soldiers in the 1st Corps, which includes Hue and Da Nang, have participated in demonstrations calling for the overthrow of the Ky government. Soldiers here also signed a declaration saying they had lost confidence in the Ky government.

They chose the color red for their scarves to "show resolution."

The commandos are students at Hue University. They average 20 to 25 in age. There are 120 of them in Section 1, the section that came to Da Nang. They have other sections, but they will not disclose how many.

Asked about demonstrations in Hue and Da Nang that had anti-American slogans, Xuan said:

Remain Friends

"We remain and will always remain friends of the Americans except in the case where the U.S. government supports Ky's government and in case the Americans prevent us from calling a National Assembly."

The commandos are allied with the Buddhists, Xuan said, "since our mutual aim is to kick Ky's government out of all political activities."

On April 7, the commandos held a general conference in Hue and drew up a declaration saying:

"The despotic and ill-ordered government of Ky has used the arms supplied by our allied nations to oppress and terrify our people who long for freedom and democracy. We are, and will always be, ready to risk our lives in protecting our country from the invasion of the Communists and from whatever foreign force intending to dominate our nation."

The commandos said they received their training from the military force of Hue and were issued their weapons from the military force protecting Da Nang.
